Rishi Sunak 'excited to keep going' as polls favour Liz Truss

LONDON: British Prime Minister hopeful Rishi Sunak on Thursday said he is excited to keep going in the Conservative Party leadership campaign even as surveys of party voters predict a firm lead for his rival, Foreign Secretary Liz Truss. "I'm really excited to keep going, I think my ideas are the right ones," he said.

PILOTS DOZE OFF, ETHIOPIAN AIRLINES JET MISSES LANDING

Autopilot alarm woke up the crew, who then turned the flight around and landed it safely at Ethiopia's Addis Ababa airport

PLANE WAS IN AUTOPILOT MODE AT 37,000 FEET

The two fell asleep with the Boeing 737 cruising in autopilot mode. Later, an alert was issued to begin the descend phase. When the flight ET343 continued at the set altitude of 37,000 feet, the Air Traffic Control tried to reach the crew, but to no avail. Finally, as the jet flew over the runway, its autopilot disengaged, setting off an alarm, which woke up the pilots

AVIATION EXPERTS BLAME PILOT FATIGUE

- Aviation experts sought to blame it on pilot fatigue and urged airlines to address it. A similar incident happened in May when two pilots aboard a jet from New York to Rome fell asleep
- "Pilot fatigue is nothing new and continues to pose a significant threat to air safety," aviation analyst Alex Macheras tweeted

31 locations raided; FIR names 15, including Dy CM, liquor barons & babus who framed, implemented excise policy

SCAM SCENT TAKES CBI TO SISODIA'S HOUSE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

IN the toughest action so far against Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's AAP government, the CBI on Friday searched the bungalow of Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia besides raiding 30 other locations across India in connection with alleged irregularities in the National Capital Territory's 2021-22 excise policy.

The CBI action, which comes in the wake of this newspaper's expose of the alleged irregularities in the AAP government's excise policy that sought to benefit a select few alcohol merchants, drew the net over 15 people, including Accused No. 1 Sisodia, naming them in an FIR registered on the basis of a complaint filed by the Union home ministry.

The complaint its got teeth from a July 20 order of Lt Governor V K Saxena, which said Sisodia, ex-Excise Commissioner Arva Gopi Krishna, Deputy Commissioner (Excise) and Assistant Commissioner (Excise) Pankaj Bhatnagar were instrumental in taking decisions related to the 2021-22 excise policy without approval from the competent authority (the LG) and with the intention of extending undue favours to the licencees post tender.

Based on an inquiry order by Saxena, the Delhi Chief Secretary submitted a report on July 8, 2022. The report said after the May 24 approval to the 2021-22 excise policy, "various major decisions and actions have been taken and executed by the Department with the approval of Minister-in-Charge in violation of the statutory provisions and the Notified Excise Policy, which have financial implications and are in the nature of extending undue favour to the licensee post tender".

10 TNIE QUESTIONS THE DY CM REFUSES TO ANSWER

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

THIS newspaper's story hit the bull's eye on Friday with the CBI registering an FIR against Delhi Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia and raiding his residence to collect more evidence in a case where the state government is alleged to have "extended wrongful gains and favour to liquor wholesalers in Delhi... at the cost of state's revenue".

This paper was the first to break the story on June 22 that the CBI would look into the Kejriwal government's new excise policy 2021-22 which appeared customised to benefit a few big players. While drafting the policy, the government ignored recommendations of its own panel of experts headed by Ravi Dhawan, which was set up to offer advice on the best practices.

After a deep dive into the policy papers, this paper mailed Sisodia 10 questions. He did not answer any. Instead, a reply was sent by the AAP, which rejected all allegations of wrongdoing and said they were orchestrated by the BJP to defame the Kejriwal government.

Even today, the AAP ecosystem is refusing to talk about the policy. Instead, Kejriwal said the raids were aimed at countering Sisodia's popularity in the education sector, which got him a front-page mention in The New York Times. The AAP machinery tried to give a political twist to the CBI FIR and the raids.

While the CBI took its time to register the FIR, the Lt Governor of Delhi ordered a probe by the state vigilance department. The Economic Offences Wing of the Delhi Police, too, initiated a probe. The vigilance probe concluded that prima facie Sisodia was involved in tweaking policy without approval of the state Cabinet and the LG. The questions this paper sent Sisodia on June 14 remain at the core of the controversy. Here is their abridged version:

❶ The Delhi government is accused of favoring large distribution companies by stipulating conditions such as annual turnover of ₹150 crore for three previous years to bid for L-1 license. How did you arrive at this high entry limit of ₹150 crore?

❼ Is it true that an excise policy similar to the one implemented in Delhi is being formulated for Punjab?

❾ How do you respond to charges that Delhi's new excise policy would disrupt liquor trade in the city, destroy smaller traders and cause loss to the state exchequer in the long run?

❿ Is it true that nine zones of Delhi have surrendered their licenses and are now not paying the annual fee causing loss to the exchequer?

SNATCHING DREAMS

Married at 15, this young widow has 2 kids

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

WHAT if the most important part of growing up is snatched away from you as if you didn't deserve it? This is what child marriage does. It wipes out adolescence from a child's life and pushes the child bride into womanhood and early motherhood. The New Indian Express met over 25 young women - all survivors of child marriage - at Kollegal in Chamarajanagar district, last weekend.

All of them were in their early 20s, had borne children at the age of 14 to 15 through C-section. One of them had lost her child a couple of days after childbirth. "The doctors told us we are very young to go through normal labour and delivery. It may jeopardise our life and that of the child," almost all of them said in one voice, when asked about the need for C-Section.

To a question on whether the Auxiliary Nursing Midwifery (ANM) and hospital authorities brought the age of the mothers to the notice the district health authorities, the young mothers claimed that their age on the Thayi (Mother) card, issued under the Thayi Bhagya Scheme, was tampered with to show them as adults. "The ANMs changed our age to 20 or 21 on the Thayi card," the women claimed.

Child marriage is prohibited under The Prohibition of Child Marriage Act (PCMA), 2006 and is a punishable offence, but in the hinterland of Karnataka there are innumerable cases of minor girls from weak socio-economic backgrounds being pushed into marriage soon after they attain puberty. P7

B'gavi shocker: 2 AK-47 rifles stolen from ITBP camp

EXPRESS NEWS SWERVICE @ Belagavi

A day after AK-47 rifles were found in a boat in Maharashtra's Konkan belt which created a flutter across the country, it has come to light that two AK-47 rifles have been stolen from the Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP) training campus in Belagavi, on Friday.

Authorities in-charge of the campus, which is located at Halbhavi on the outskirts of Belagavi, have launched an intense search operation on the premises.

The two missing AK-47 rifles had been provided to two trainees from ITBP Madurai who are undergoing Naxal Suppression Training at the campus. When the two rifles could not be traced, the authorities lodged a complaint with the Belagavi police on Friday. P7

Panchamasali quota: HC halts panel's move

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court has directed the High-Level Committee for Examination, constituted by the state government to examine whether Panchamasali Lingayat subsect can be included in Category 2A, not to proceed until further orders. The sub-sect presently comes under Category 3B.

Three members of the High-Level Committee headed by Justice Subhash B Adi, former Upa Lokayukta and former judge of Karnataka High Court, was constituted by the state government on March 10, 2021. The government had issued an order dated July 1, 2021 specifying the terms of reference to be framed. Subsequently, the committee issued a notice dated September 29, 2021 to the petitioner.

The Karnataka State Backward Castes Federation moved the high court challenging the validity of the constitution of the committee, the order prescribing terms of reference and the notice. Hearing the petition, a Division Bench of Justices B Veerappa and KS Hemalekha recently issued directions to the committee not to proceed further. The Advocate General said that the report of the committee is only recommendatory and the final decision will be taken by the state government.

HAL underpass may open in 40 days: Chief engineer

Delayed by rain, work on ramps and central boxes is pending

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

VEHICLE owners can now heave a sigh of relief as the traffic plight from Whitefield to HAL Old Airport Road will be mitigated as the Road Infrastructure Department of BBMP will soon complete its much-awaited underpass at HAL main gate junction.

The department had recently opened its ₹19-crore worth Kundalahalli underpass which has eased traffic near Marathahalli and Varthur. Officials said that the work on ramps and central boxes in the HAL underpass are pending, which will be completed in 40 days.

Chief Engineer for Projects, M Lokesh told TNIE work is underway in full-swing in HAL area. "We have finished the drainage works and laying of pipes. Due to rain, the pending works are taking time, but now we will complete it within 35 to 40 days."

The project was on the lines of Kundalahalli underpass, and commenced in 2018. Once completed, it will traffic at HAL Old Airport as vehicles coming from Whitefiled and Domlur can freely pass through without stopping at the signal.

Similarly, vehicles coming from Old Madras Road will find it easier to head towards Domlur or Marathahalli from the HAL main gate junction.

Recently, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai had paid a surprise visit to KR Puram and Mahadevapura constituency and inspected the underpass work at Kundalahalli. Since the work was almost complete, the BBMP, instead of waiting for official inauguration, has opened the underpass to pubic a month ago. BBMP said that the Kundalahalli underpass was built at a cost of ₹19.5 crore, and an engineer said that even the HAL underpass will be built at the same cost.

Once inaugurated, the HAL underpass will ease traffic on the busy Old Airport Road

Minister bats for climate solutions at local level

BENGALURU: IT, BT and Higher Education Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan on Friday said climate change solutions must come from the local level. "Western solutions to climate change problems may prove to be expensive, hence, India must look towards local solutions to combat them. There is a need to find solutions that are based on a domestic model. Indian entrepreneurs must make use of innovation to find a solution to climate change problems that are also sustainable," he said at the inauguration of the Eco Youth Startup Competition and Summit (EYSS), 2022. Narayan said India must shift towards an economy that is organisation-driven, rather than industry-driven, and the National Education Policy will work towards helping with this. "Working together in a team must be made a priority. Students, innovators and entrepreneurs should learn to make use of team spirit and all efforts must be made to turn India into one of the leading countries of the world in the next 25 years," he said.

KCET repeater students send SOS to PM Modi

BENGALURU: Repeater students who appeared for KCET expressed their despair and discouragement on social media, and complained about the attitude of the authorities with regard to selection for professional courses. Two of the students, Praveen Jadhav and Anusha Thabbannavar of Vijayapura, wrote a letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday, seeking his intervention to sort out the matter expeditiously, so that they don't lose a year. Exceprts from the letter: "Dear Prime Minister Modiji, We are a group of students numbering about 24,000 who wrote the KCET examination a couple of months ago. It is extremely painful to note that we have been denied a fair opportunity to be evaluated in KCET. The reason is because they have not considered the PUC Board marks allotted to us in the second year PU final exams because we passed during Covid times, and since the examination was not held, they allotted grace marks to us. This is a serious lapse affecting the lives of 24,000 students and their families. We would request your kind self to intervene and ensure that justice is served... in contrast, the other students received the benefit of their marks of final exams PUC. Director Ramya, IAS, claimed that since the marks allotted to us are grace marks, they shall not be considered. Thereby she was trying to pass off their incompetence and profession inability to hold exams and fairly evaluate us on our heads..." Bansy Kalappa

Rohini Nilekani pledges ₹25 crore to Atree

BENGALURU: Philanthopist and author Rohini Nilekani on Friday announced an endowment of Rs 25 crore as a part of 25 years of celebration of Ashoka Trust for Research in Ecology and Environment (ATREE). The amount is a part of the Rs 50 crore grant that she had pledged last year. Atree officials said that the amount will be used for research and strengthening the institution. Atree founder-president and Chair, Kamal Bawa said: "The total grant of Rs 50 crore will allow ATREE to address the growing environmental challenges, and will allow to consolidate and expand our programmes and partnerships." Chairperson of Rohini Nilekani Philanthropies Rohini Nilekani, said, "There is an urgent need for institutions to bring together the social and the natural sciences to create knowledge for sustainable and equitable development."

Tata Motors to supply 921 electric buses to BMTC

BENGALURU: Tata Motors on Thursday announced that the company won an order of 921 electric buses from BMTC. The company will supply, operate and maintain 12-metre electric buses for 12 years, as per the contract. G Sathyavathi, Managing Director, BMTC, said, "We are delighted to confirm the order of 921 e-buses to Tata Motors. This order is paramount for Bengaluru's growing need for clean, sustainable urban mass mobility." The modern electric buses will attract maximum ridership for eco-friendly public transport, Sathyavathi added. Mahua Acharya, MD & CEO, Convergence Energy Services Limited (CESL) said, "BMTC has placed its order for e-buses under the Grand Challenge of CESL." Tata Motors has already received orders for 1,500 electric buses from Delhi Transport Corporation.

KSPCB official flags organic waste mixing

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IFAT India, which is one of the leading trade fairs in the country for environmental technologies, and Messe Muenchen, a leading B2B trade fair organisers, held a discussion in Bengaluru on 'Sustainable Solutions for Urban Development' with special emphasis on 'Municipal Waste Management – Challenges and Opportunities'.

Senior environment officer of Karnataka State Pollution Control Board, Bengaluru, Syed Khaja, stated, during the event, that the government is serious about solving solid waste management issue, pointing out that the main issue is the mixing of organic waste with other elements. "The problem of flies, smell and leachate comes when organic waste is not separated. Everyone wants the issue to be solved but will object to a waste plant next to their house," said Khaja. The officer also stated Bengaluru generates 6,000 tonnes of waste everyday, and this will keep growing. "Apart from managing current and legacy waste, we need to look at net zero waste by 2050 which can be achieved through PPPs," he stressed.

Founder and CEO, Saahas Zero Waste, Wilma Rodrigues, pitched for management of waste by 'bulk generators' like it is done in office, tech parks and industries.

Messe Muenchen India CEO Bhupinder Singh, said, "IFAT 2022 provides the right platform for all stakeholders to exchange perspectives, explore the latest global technology solutions, and forge partnerships to manage the issue as it is one of the most pressing challenges for the country today."

Top babus try to find cure for traffic ills

BENGALURU: To address Bengaluru's one of the persistent issue which is mobility of traffic, BBMP administrator Rakesh Singh, Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath, Directorate of Urban Land Transport Chief V Manjula, BMRCL MD Anjum Pervez held a discussion on Friday. The focus of the meeting was on transit-oriented development like mobility, parking, traffic and others. A senior official told TNIE that, in the last 15 years, Bengaluru's traffic have increased beyond expectations. Smart parking, pay and park, and cycle tracks were discussed. CM Basavaraj Bommai will take a final call. "The idea of pay and park is to ensure discipline and convenience, and not just revenue collection," said a senior officer, adding that there will be a meeting again on Monday to get a clear picture.

POTHOLES MATTER IN PALIKE POLLS

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

POTHOLES and bad roads have already become the salient issues in deciding who will come to power after the upcoming BBMP elections.

Some Resident Welfare Associations are planning to boycott the polls since they have lost hope, and do not see any way in which bad road conditions will improve. They are also irked that former corporators have started making promises of resolving their issues.

Others are looking for new faces, who are well-acquainted with the local problems, and can resolve them.

Manohar, who is a member of Basavanagudi RWA said that despite being pulled up by the Karnataka High Court, there are innumerable potholes. "We do not know how effectively work is done. Former corporators are trying to appease the people, but we are worried about whether they will be able to deliver or not," he said.

Another member of Varthur Resident Welfare Association said that since they have used their own resources to repair roads and get water connections, they do not need any government official or elected representative with many RWAs running social media campaigns to boycott the elections.

Sunil Achar from Koramangala RWA said that they were discussing in their circle whom to vote. "We are looking for new faces, people and groups who have better practical solutions to improve the pathetic road conditions. We are not keen to vote for the usual BJP or Congress or any other regular political party. The monsoon and dry seasons have taught us enough lessons," he said.

20TH August: Mars' relationship with Saturn is what is called a 'stop-go' aspect; active Mars creates a peak of energy, but serious Saturn blocks it. The result is that we'll all meet unexpected obstacles, but they can be removed with extra effort and hard work. The last thing to do is to give up and walk away.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Fortune, good and bad, comes in mysterious ways. You may be aware that someone is beavering away on your behalf. But, equally, you may be completely ignorant of various undertakings that are being pushed through by those who have your best interests at heart.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Spending plans may have to be put on ice, but I suspect that this is no bad thing. You are a lucky person indeed if you can exercise restraint and bring others to the conference table. Those with goodwill in their hearts will have a splendid time as far as relationships and romance are concerned.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Auspicious planetary aspects are not entirely absent, but they are rather rare. This is a busy time, but I hope you'll manage to take the weight off your feet and pamper yourself a little. You will gain credibility by actually doing what you say you're going to do.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You are well able to make up your own mind, and there is no point in advising you to disregard what is now taking place on the emotional front. I can only urge you to give others the benefit of the doubt and steer events from conflict to pleasure.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
No doubt you would prefer to do things in a direct and open manner, but this might not be possible. You may be obliged to keep certain things to yourself. Domestic considerations predominate and a relative, perhaps a child, will need your help.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It's another of those tough days, but once midday has been and gone, you'll begin to get a much clearer picture of where you're coming from, where you're heading and what you'll do when you get there! The clues lie in the little, apparently trivial and meaningless events.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The whole mood of the day changes around noon, and it looks as if you may begin to feel less sociable and more inclined to tuck yourself away. Everybody needs to hibernate occasionally, and I'd recommend a spot of seclusion: make time for yourself for a change.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There has to be a breakthrough in matrimonial and partnership matters. You're not alone and you will face up to the reality of your relationships and the obligations and ties they create. Partners have needs and desires, some of which you have actively encouraged.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Earlier in the day is possibly easier than later, the reason being that while you may be quite relaxed at the beginning, as the hours pass, you will be reminded of certain conditions essential to your survival. For one thing you need a partner's goodwill.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Deal with money matters early on: if you're bargain-hunting, morning is the best time for a foray to the shops. Afternoon stars suggest adventurous options, overseas contacts and long-distance trips. A close partner will offer unexpected support - but expect something in return.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
A high proportion of you will be doing a spot of over-time or extra work today. All members of your sign are in an ambitious mood and will be pursuing community activities or private hobbies. Deal with partners this morning and sort out cash this afternoon.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You will become increasingly aware of your debt to other people. Quite aside from the fact that promising social encounters are on the cards, you must seek co-operation for a future venture, perhaps because other people haven't quite pulled their weight in the past.

'Golden Hour' crucial during heart attack, cardiac arrest

'Chances of saving life increases if right care is provided in that time'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IDENTIFYING the difference between cardiac arrest and a heart attack is important to be able to provide basic first aid and life support to a person possibly suffering from a heart attack, cardiac arrest or stroke, to help reduce heart morbidities.

Paramedical staff must be trained to understand the symptoms of a stroke or other possibilities which will ensure efficiently tackling of the case at the earliest, said Dr Sreekanta Swamy, neurology head, Aster RV Hospital. The first 60 minutes, 'Golden Hour', in a stroke are extremely crucial, and the probability of saving a life increases if right care is provided in that time.

Explaining the difference between cardiac arrest and heart attack, Dr Harish KS said that in a cardiac arrest, the heart does not function at all, the person becomes unresponsive, breathing and pulse are absent, while during a heart attack, there is a prolonged pain in the chest area. He also clarified that 'pin-point pain' is not a heart attack. When a person can identify the exact point of pain, the chances are it is a gastrointestinal issue.

Speaking at a workshop, Dr Venkatesh S, chief of cardiology, said there is prevalence of heart diseases in young people, who account for one-third of patients with heart disorders. A lack of balanced nutrition, and consumption of alcohol and tobacco at an early age further reduces the age of being prone to heart attack.

Talking about the benefits of exercising, he explained the connection between better heart health with physical activities. A person must indulge in physical activities, start slow and gradually work towards intense training, if interested.

FIRST AID IMPORTANT

A person having a heart attack must be immediately given an aspirin (350mg) tablet — directly or dissolved in water — and taken to the nearest hospital, Dr Venkatesh said. People should identify the nearest hospitals and emergency care services for basic care, before reaching hospital. People should also be trained in CPR, as a person can get a cardiac arrest any time. Dr Harish demonstrated how to efficiently provide basic life care support. He said almost 100 compressions must be given in a minute to help revive the heart.

Woman's plan to kill husband goes awry, paramour ends life

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A woman's plan to get her husband murdered went awry as the supari killers, who chickened out to kill him after kidnapping him, made a video call to her paramour claiming they had killed him and the latter ended his life fearing consequences.

Naveen Kumar, a resident of Doddabidarakallu, runs a mill and also works as a car driver. He was married to Pallavi and has two children.

Police said Pallavi had an extramarital affair with one, Himavanth Kumar, and she allegedly conspired with him to murder her husband. Himavanth had arranged four supari killers to get the job done. Two of them had hired his car to Tamil Nadu on July 23 and took him there, where two others joined them. They kidnapped him and kept him at a house. However, they could not get the courage to kill him but decided to lie to Himavanth. They made Naveen Kumar consume alcohol and after he slept, they poured ketchup on him to make it look like he was murdered. They made a video call to Himavanth and made him believe that they had murdered him.

"Himavanth, who thought Naveen was dead, feared that he will be arrested and killed himself in Bagalagunte police station limits a few days after the incident. Meanwhile, Naveen Kumar's sister filed a missing complaint with the Peenya police on August 2 after which Naveen returned home and told his wife that he was kidnapped. Naveen's statement was recorded and an investigation was launched into it. The phone call records exposed that the abductors had contacted Himavanth and the latter was in constant touch with Pallavi. Hence, her role was suspected and she was picked up for questioning and she spilled the beans. Five, including Pallavi, were arrested," the police added.

"Naveen, who had no clue about his wife's affair or her plan to get him killed, is not ready to believe that she is involved. He loved his wife so much that he kept requesting the police not to arrest her," the police said.

COVID CLUSTERS IN TWO INDUSTRIAL UNITS, 38 TEST +VE

SHILPA P @Bengaluru

TWO Covid-19 clusters were detected in two small-scale industries at Abbigere, near the industrial area in Shettihalli (Ward 12) of Dasarahalli zone in Bengaluru. They are the first-ever clusters detected in industries or workplaces in the past five months, after the onset of the third Covid wave.

Thirty employees of Lakshmi Industries and eight employees of Venkateshwara Enterprises, both engaged in the manufacture of gunny bags, tested positive for Covid-19 in RT-PCR tests. The industries are located adjacent to each other, and owned by the same person. Following the outbreak, both units were sealed. All those who tested positive are home isolated. Lakshmi Industries has 50 employees, of whom 40 were tested, and reports of 29 men and one woman came positive. All are in the age group of 21-41. Only 5 were symptomatic.

All 35 employees of Venkateshwara Enterprises were tested, and five men and three women tested positive. They are in the 28-34 age group. All those who tested positive are double vaccinated, but none have taken the booster doses.

One of the employees had travelled within the state. Following information of one symptomatic cases in one of the units, employees of both units were tested and the clusters were detected.

EGG ATTACK

Cong erupts in protest across state

Police hand in glove with BJP protesters: Siddaramaiah; Congress leaders plan 'Madikeri Chalo' on Aug 26

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

CONGRESS shed its lethargy and erupted in protest across many districts all over the state after party leader Siddaramaiah was attacked with eggs by BJP protesters in Kodagu on Thursday.

While BJP leaders KG Bopaiah and Renukacharya tried to wriggle out of the situation, saying it was not BJP workers who protested, KPCC president DK Shivakumar slammed them, saying, "The other name for BJP is lies. They don't have the courage to tell the truth. If you have done it own up."

Congress Campaign committee president MB Patil, Council Opposition Leader BK Hariprasad, working presidents — Ramalinga Reddy, Saleem Ahmed and Druvanarayan — and every other Congress leader criticised BJP.

Druvanarayan in Mysuru said, "Home Minister Araga Jnanendra has to resign. Siddaramaiah is a mass leader so he is being targeted. What was the government doing? This is definitely state sponsored."

Congress is planning to lay siege to the deputy commissioner's office in Madikeri on August 26 and hold a massive protest across Kodagu. The district, where both MLAs are from BJP, is a saffron party bastion like Dakshina Kannada.

While Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai condemned the attack, an unconvinced Siddaramaiah alleged that the police were in cahoots with BJP attackers and were indifferent and inactive during the attack. "The police are with the protesters. We will take out a Madikeri Chalo rally against police inaction. The attack was sponsored by BJP and it was an act of cowardice. They have done this when I was there to assess rain-related damage in the district. The government has not provided relief to rain-hit Madikeri," he said.

On VD Savarkar, he said, "What freedom fighter is he ... He wrote multiple petitions to the British seeking mercy."

In Chamarajanagar, Congress leader Puttaranga Shetty said, "Can't we also do it to shame BJP leaders who come here?" In Koppal, Raghavendra Hitnal said, "We can throw stones at BJP."

In Mysuru, BJP leader Thotadapppa Basavraj, who contested against Siddaramaiah, filed a police complaint against the Congress leader, saying his statement that "Congress workers too know how to throw eggs" was provocative. The police registered the case.

State Youth Congress chief Mohammed Nalapad argues with the police during a protest in Bengaluru against the attack on Siddaramaiah's car, on Friday

CM speaks to Siddu

BENGALURU: CM Basavaraj Bommai said he spoke to Congress leader Siddaramaiah after media reports about threat to his life. "I assured him that the government has taken it (such reports) seriously. I have requested him to provide details, if he or his staff had got any calls and we will get it thoroughly investigated," Bommai said. The threat perception follows a post on one of the social media sites, Siddar-amaiah's office told TNIE.Bommai said he asked the state police chief to instruct SPs to ensure that no one takes the law into their hands and also provide appropriate security to Siddaramaiah. "This is going on from both sides. No one should give provoc-ative statements," Bommai said responding to a ques-tion on BJP workers' protest against Siddaramaiah and the counter-protests by Congress. ENS

'Eggs, flags natural reaction to remark'

UDUPI: Energy Minister V Sunil Kumar said today's young generation is not ready to accept CLP leader Siddaramaiah's attempt to tarnish the image of V D Savarkar. The reaction on Thursday to Siddaramaiah's statement on Savarkar was not motivated by politics, but was a natural outpouring of anguish by people. "The days of remaining silent against divisive forces are gone," he said. Reacting to the 'egg attack', he said Siddaramaiah was responsible for creating a divide with his statements, ENS

Former chief minister Siddaramaiah listens to woes of flood-affected residents of Baluru in Chikkamagaluru district on Friday

STATE-SPONSORED, CLAIMS FORMER CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Shivamogga

A day after eggs were hurled at his car and black flags waved at him in Kodagu district, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah on Friday said the attacks were 'sponsored by the state'.

On Friday, too, he was greeted by BJP and pro-Hindutva protesters in Chikkamagaluru district while he was on a tour of flood-hit areas. He visited several affected areas in Koppa and Sringeri taluks. He also went to Sharada Peeta in Sringeri and Jagadguru Rambhapuri Peeta at Balehonnur, where he met the pontiff Prasanna Veera Someshwara Swamy.

As his convoy passed, BJP workers waved black flags and even tried to stop the vehicles at Menase village in Sringeri taluk and Makkikoppa in Koppa taluk. The police, however, quickly stepped in and prevented any further escalation of protests. In Sringeri, they detained several BJP workers who tried to stage a protest against Siddaramaiah.

"What happened in Kodagu was a state-sponsored protest. The government is dead in Karnataka. About 10 people were protesting at a village in Kodagu. There were similar arrangements at four other places," Siddaramaiah said.

He questioned why the police department failed to intervene and make preventive arrests. "Will the police allow similar protests during CM Bommai's visit? What stopped the Kodagu SP from making preventive arrests," he thundered.

"We are staging a protest against the Kodagu police in front of the SP office in Madikeri on August 26. The SP has joined hands with RSS and Bajrang Dal," he charged. Speaking at a party workers' meet, he said, "These people worship Mahatma Gandhi's killer Godse... Would they spare me?"

Siddu regrets move to split Lingayats: Rambhapuri seer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Shivamogga

PONTIFF Rambhapuri Jagadguru Prasanna Renuka Veerasomeshwara Swami claimed that former chief minister Siddaramaiah, during his first visit to the mutt at Balehonnur in Chikkamagaluru district on Friday, regretted starting a separate Lingayat movement during his tenure.

Many have accused Siddaramaiah of supporting a separation of Lingayat faith from Veerashaiva faith. However, the pontiff said, "Siddaramaiah expressed his grief over the issue with an open mind. He told that he had never tried to separate Lingayat religion, and that some people had misled him, and he regrets it."

The pontiff also said that Siddaramaiah has promised never to interfere in matters concerning religion. "Siddaramaiah told me he would work for the development of the state," he added.

The swami said he had invited Siddaramaiah to the mutt when he shared the dais with him at a recent marriage function in Gabbur village, Devadurga taluk, of Raichur. "I had asked him about his regular visits to Sringeri. But he had never visited Rambhapuri Peetha, so I invited him to the mutt to take blessings," he said.

The pontiff said the mutt treats all party leaders equally. "Accordingly, I blessed him and wished him the best," he said. The pontiff also garlanded Siddaramaiah with a special rudraksha mala brought from Kashi.

Bababudangiri: Applications invited for management panel

BENGALURU: The State Government has issued an order for constituting a management committee, comprising both Hindus and Muslims to oversee religious practices at 'Sri Guru Dattatreya Bababudan Swamy Dargah/ Peetha' in Chikkamagaluru district. The Department of Religious Institutions and Endowments on Wednesday has invited applications from both Hindus and Muslims to be included in the committee which must include two women and one person from SC/ST communities with 15 days of deadline. The panel's term will be three years and subject to the judgment of the Karnataka High Court following a writ petition filed by a religious institution in 2021. The order dated July 19 is based on recommendations made by a Cabinet sub-committee headed by Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister J C Madhuswamy. The state cabinet on July 1 had accepted the recommendations. ENS

VROOMING AHEAD...

Egg protest gives protein high that Siddaramaiah, Congress needed

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

CONGRESS has transformed egg into a symbol of protest with party workers across the state hitting the streets to protest against eggs being flung at former chief minister Siddaramaiah's car in Kodagu on Thursday. In Mandya, agitators used boiled eggs, while Youth Congress members in Bengaluru said they will follow the principles of Mahatma Gandhi, turn the other cheek and send eggs to all ruling BJP ministers. They also protested at the War Memorial off Brigade Road on Friday evening.

Former MP Ugrappa mocked at BJP, saying, "Is not BJP a party of vegetarians? Why are they throwing eggs which are considered non-vegetarian?"

Even as the protest turned shrill, former Speaker and Virajpet-Kodagu MLA KG Bopaiah tried to distance BJP from the issue, saying those who threw eggs were not from BJP. But after information came out that MLA Appachu Ranjan had a hand in the release of the protesters in Kodagu, an angry Congress MLA Byrati Suresh said, "We will throw rotten eggs at Appachu Ranjan."

The "egg attack" could be a turning point in state politics, experts said. Siddaramaiah, whose support had dwindled among his own Kuruba and Ahinda voters with ratings going down from ten on ten to as low as five on ten, has suddenly seen a upsurge of support, they added. Kuruba and Ahinda constituents took to social media sites to express their support to Siddaramaiah.

Many suggested they are willing to go to Kodagu to express their anger and protest at the very same spot where protesters threw the egg at the leader's vehicle and hold a convention.

Talk about political oology, which is the study of collecting eggs. In the case of Siddaramaih, he seems to be collecting all the right eggs, just months before the Assembly elections.

What if Cong workers too protest, asks DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chitradurga

A day after an 'egg attack' on Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah in Kodagu district, KPCC president DK Shivakumar on Friday warned BJP to rein in its workers. "Siddaramaiah is not just a Congress leader... He holds the constitutional post of Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly. The scenario will be different if Congress workers too protest at programmes in which CM and ministers participate," he said.

"Being an opposition leader, it is Siddaramaiah's duty to highlight the government's failures. In a democratic set-up, one can protest or criticise statements made by anyone. Siddaramaiah had visited Kodagu to take stock of the situation after the floods and to highlight the lapses of the government in providing relief. But some BJP workers hurled eggs and showed black flags at Siddaramaiah. This isn't the right way of expressing dissent," he added.

"Congress has been part of various struggles in the past, including the freedom struggle. What if we give a call to our workers to protest at programmes attended by CM and ministers against corruption? What will happen to the law and order situation," he asked.

Govt officials can now buy higher-end cars

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

THE state government, through an order on Thursday, almost doubled the cost limit for certain higher levels of bureaucrats to purchase official vehicles, adding to the burden on the exchequer.

The order, issued by the Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms under-secretary, states that senior officials, starting from the additional chief secretary, principal Secretary and heads of various departments, can now buy more expensive cars with the enhanced limit.

The additional chief secretary, principal secretary, secretary and secretary-rank officials can now buy cars costing up to Rs 20 lakh, while the earlier limits was Rs 14 lakh. Similarly, deputy commissioners, chief executive officers of zilla panchayats, session court judges, superintendents of police and city police commissioners can now buy cars for Rs 18 lakh, while the previous ceiling was Rs 9 lakh. Senior police and other officials at the district level can buy vehicles for Rs 12.5 lakh, up from Rs 6.5 lakh, while other senior officials at the tahsildar rank can go up to Rs 9 lakh. All the prices announced exclude many taxes.

A senior DPAR official, requesting anonymity, said there was a demand to increase the price limits for vehicles, especially high-end cars. "It had been more than five years since we had revised the limits. This order is not applicable to ministers and other cabinet rank political leaders," he added.

Karnataka State Government Employees' Association president Shadakshari said this is a routine exercise. "As the cost of cars has increased and the government's fixed price was making it difficult for officials to buy at that rate, the government revised it" he added.

But other government officials said, "The state witnessed a big dip in revenues over the last two years, especially last year. There are many essentials that need to be taken care of on priority, including the recruitment of staff and clearing of contractors' pending bills. Over 2.5 lakh posts in government departments are lying vacant, forcing the existing staff to put in additional hours. This was not needed at present," said a senior official from the secretariat.

Joshi's advice to Siddu: Stay away from divisive politics

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hubballi

WHILE Congress leaders have been targeting VD Savarkar, Union Minister Pralhad Joshi on Friday hit back at the Grand Old Party, questioning the contribution of the "first family of Congress".

Joshi told the media that none of the existing 'fake' Gandhis ever went through the travails faced by Savarkar, who suffered 11 years of Kala Paani punishment. Congress leaders should understand that despite differences in their thinking, Mahatma Gandhi always considered Savarkar a patriot, he said. He pointed out that during a Congress Party session, Gandhi had pleaded for the release of Savarkar and also passed a resolution. "Indira Gandhi's letter, written during the birth anniversary of Savarkar, too is in the public domain. To appease their vote bank, Congress leaders are indulging in RSS and Savarkar bashing," he charged.

He denounced the 'egg attack' on Siddaramaiah, and said he or his party will never support any such protest. But, he added, what Siddaramaiah said about Savarkar is condemnable. "The Congress leader should understand his stature and keep away from divisive politics," he opined.

Stating that Siddaramaiah understood the "miserable condition his party is in", he said, "Siddaramaiah is not originally from Congress, but it made him CM and opposition leader. He has been waiting for another term as chief minister after which he is most likely to be least bothered about the future of Congress."

Horticulture and Kolar district in-charge minister Munirathna said there were no lapses in security in tour programmes attended by Siddaramaiah.

Liquor sale 5X on Siddu b'day: RTI

SHILPA P @Bengaluru

THE sale of liquor shot up five fold in Davanagere on August 3, the day Siddaramotsava — the 75th birthday bash of Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah — was held in the town, an RTI reply revealed

Social activist KC Rajanna had filed an RTI application, seeking details of sales of liquor on August 3. The Karnataka State Beverages Corporation Ltd, Davanagere, replied that 3,02,164 bottles of liquor worth Rs 1,62,10,734 were sold in the town that day. Rajanna said that usually, liquor worth Rs 30-40 lakh per day is sold there. "On the day of Siddaramotsava, it was five times more than the normal," he added.

As many as 1,169 invoices were raised for liquor bought from 52 retailers. Over 60 brands of liquor and varieties of beer, whisky, rum, wine, brandy, vodka, gin and others were sold on that day, he added. The reply revealed that some of the expensive brands, including Jim Beam Kentucky straight bourbon whisky, Jameson Irish Whisky, Vat 60 blended scotch whisky, William Lawson's blended scotch whisky and others, also witnessed a surge in sales.

Monuments will be up for adoption for corporates

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday said he will write to corporate firms to adopt monuments across the state, and be involved in their preservation and management. At a review meeting with tourism officials on Friday, Bommai issued directions to list out memorials and funds needed to maintain them, along with basic amenities, details of which are to be uploaded on the new department website for companies to choose from. He also directed tourism officials to work in coordination with the industry department. Bommai said the government has formulated guidelines for the adoption and maintenance of monuments, which were announced in the budget.

In the coming days, officials have to work towards increasing visitors at tourist spots in Karnataka, develop them and provide better amenities, besides giving publicity.

The tourism circuits of Mysuru-Belur-Halebeedu and Hampi-Badami-Aihole-Pattadakal will also be developed, Bommai said. "The Mysuru tourism circuit should be ready for inauguration during Dasara, and Hampi circuit must be kept ready for Deepavali. These circuits should include adventure sports and entertainment activities," he added.

Stressing on 'Parvatha Maala' and State government schemes, he said he would discuss with DCs and forest officials the completion of land acquisition for the proposed ropeway in Nandi Hills, Yaana, Anjanadri Hill, Mullaiyanagiri and Dattapeeta hill.

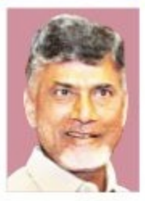
Shah tweaks schedule, may meet 'old friend' Naidu

Meeting likely to pave way for an alliance between TDP and BJP in AP, Telangana

VIVEK BHOOMI @ Hyderabad

A CRUCIAL tweak has been made to Union Home Minister Amit Shah's itinerary during his visit to Telangana — the senior BJP leader will have a brief stopover at Ramoji Film City after his public meeting in Munugode on August 21.



At the Film City, Shah is now scheduled to spend some time with Cherukuri Ramoji Rao, the media baron. However, highly reliable sources say that former AP chief minister and TDP supremo N Chandrababu Naidu will be present at the Film City at the time Shah visits it.

According to these sources, BJP MP Y Satyanarayana Chowdary, popularly known as Sujana Chowdary, has used his good offices to facilitate the meeting between Shah and Naidu, in the hopes of a revival of an alliance between the TDP and BJP in AP and Telangana for the next elections.

After the conclusion of the public meeting in Munugode at around 6 pm, Shah will head to the Ramoji Film City, where he is expected to spend around 45 minutes till 7.30, after which he will head to Novotel Hotel at Shamshabad. From 8 pm to 9.30 pm, the senior BJP leader will hold meetings with some key leaders of the party's State unit. He will fly to New Delhi the same night.

According to sources, the TDP extending support to NDA's Presidential candidate Droupadi Murmu, and then Jagdeep Dhankhar in the Vice-Presidential election, paved the way for the possibility of a revival of the BJP-TDP alliance.

The BJP, which is going all-out to come to power in Telangana, has till now not found a way to woo the Andhra voters who have been the deciding factor in around 30 Assembly constituencies. The Kamma vote bank has been crucial in most of these constituencies, especially in the twin cities, erstwhile Khammam district and Nizamabad district.

Congress leader V D Satheesan inspects the damage to MP Rahul Gandhi's office

4 Congmen held for vandalising Gandhi pic

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kalpetta

FOUR Congress workers, including the personal assistant of MP Rahul Gandhi, were arrested for vandalising the picture of Mahatma Gandhi that was kept in his office in Wayanad, on Friday.

The arrested persons are Rahul's PA K R Ratheesh Kumar, office staff V Naushad and S R Rahul, besides one K A Mujeeb. All of them were released on bail.

A photograph of the picture lying on the floor – taken after SFI's violent protest at the Congress leader's office on June 24 – had gained widespread attention and set off a blame game in the state, with CPM and Congress holding the other responsible for desecrating the picture.

The Congress workers were booked under Sections 427 and 153 of the IPC. Wayanad SP's report on the attack on Rahul's office had said SFI workers didn't vandalise the picture that was hanging on the wall.

The police photographer had told the officers that the picture was found damaged at 4.30pm, after the SFI march ended. Photographs were submitted with the report.

Meanwhile, Congress MLAs T Siddique and I C Balakrishnan, Wayanad district panchayat president Samshad Marakkar and Wayanad district Congress committee chief N D Appachan staged a sit-in in front of the Kalpetta DySP office against the arrest of the party workers.

Taking potshots at the Congress following the arrest, the CPM asked it whether it was ready to take action against the workers. "Or will their national leader Rahul Gandhi himself take action?" asked P Gagarin, CPM Wayanad district secretary.

The SFI had taken out the march to protest against the MP's inaction on the Supreme Court order regarding the declaration of buffer zone ion Wayanad. Twenty-nine SFI workers, including Wayanad district president Joel Joseph and secretary Jishnu Shaji, were arrested.

4 security guards among 6 held for murder of home-alone woman

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

SENIOR police officers have requested the public to be cautious while hiring non-local security guards, following the arrest of six Nepali men, including four security guards, for the brutal murder of an 82-year-old home-alone woman in HSR Layout.

After the gang was arrested, Additional Commissioner of Police, Law and Order (East), Dr A Subramanyeswara Rao on Friday urged the public to approach the local police to check the antecedents of security guards before hiring them.

"While employing non-local security persons, it is always better to verify their background through the local police. Resident welfare associations can also be approached to check the antecedents of guards through the police. The employers should also look for some surety for the security guards. The best way to engage security guards is through registered security agencies," Rao added.

The victim, Jayashree, was found murdered at her house in HSR Layout 1st Sector, 26th Main Road, in the afternoon of August 13. She was staying alone after the death of her husband six years ago. Of her two children, one is in Canada while the other is in a different part of India.

The arrested are Mukesh Khadak, Kamal Dhabi, Keshav Guda, Shivu Katai, Gajendra and Khadak Singh. Khadak Singh was working as a security guard at a building close to the victim's house. Police said she had approached him to help her find a security guard for her house. He then hatched a pot to rob her with his associates. The police have recovered Rs 1 lakh from them.

"Singh had taken one of his associates and introduced him to the victim and had gained her confidence. On the day of the murder, he went to the victim's house. She allowed him inside and the others also followed. They initially threatened and robbed her of Rs 2.5 lakh cash. When she resisted, the accused murdered her and escaped," said an investigating officer. Of the six accused, nearly 20 cases of crimes committed in the city were lodged against one of them. Two of the gang members were arrested from Uttar Pradesh and Maharashtra. The accused were arrested while they were making arrangements to leave the country.

India must use its strengths to attract foreign investments: Kris

Bengaluru: India must leverage its strengths in attracting foreign investments for the country to grow in the next 25 years, said Kris Gopalakrishnan, Infosys co-founder and former president of the Confederation of India Industry, on Friday. Ahead of the 18th CII Innovation Summit 'Innoverge 2022' from August 25 to 27, he told reporters that the startup economy was able to attract $25 billion in the last 12 months alone. "We must take advantage of the strengths that we have as a youthful nation, with talents that are second to none and a nation that is now able to attract foreign direct investments. Especially if you look at the startup ecosystem, it was able to attract investments and we need to leverage all of this to create opportunities to grow faster," he said. The three-day summit is aimed at bringing together both startups and existing enterprises to enable enterprises to make use of the innovate nature of startups. ENS

HC directs UIDAI to share info with NIA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court has directed the Unique Identification Authority of India (UIDAI) to furnish documents/information sought by the National Investigation Agency (NIA) as part of investigation into cross border human trafficking and forcing of vulnerable women from Bangladesh into prostitution by generating fake documents.

The UIDAI quoted the bar enacted in Section 33 of the Aadhar (Targeted Delivery of Financial and Other Subsidies, Benefits and Services) Act, 2016, while rejecting the request of the NIA on September 22, 2021, for disclosure of information of Aadhar cards of 12 accused persons.

Quashing the reply issued by the UIDAI while allowing the petition filed by NIA, Justice Krishna S Dixit said the provisions of Section 33 have been structured as an exception inter alia to the provisions of Sections 28 and 29 inasmuch as they authorise sharing of information and documents on "an order of a court not inferior to that of a judge of a High Court".

"It is true that before such an order is made, an opportunity of hearing needs to be afforded to the UIDAI. Accordingly, such an opportunity has been given. Had it been the intent of the parliament that the persons concerned should also be heard before sharing their information, such a provision would have been made in the Act itself ... Insisting upon consent of the persons whose information is sought for can be metaphorically equated to mosquitoes insisting upon consent for combat against malaria," the court said.

Ramamurthynagar police have registered a case against the accused under the provisions of the IPC, Foreigners Act and Immoral Traffic (Prevention) Act, against the accused for allegedly trafficking Bangladeshi girls to India on the false promise of employment. These girls were initially sent to Kolkata where fake Aadhaar cards were generated and thereafter they were forced into prostitution in other parts of the country.

Thereafter, the Home Ministry entrusted the case to the NIA, considering the gravity of the offences and also to their international and inter-state ramifications, in July 2021.

4 Indonesians get new lease of life in B'luru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Jayadeva Institute of Cardiology in Bengaluru has given a new lease of life to four Indonesian patients, including three boys and a woman, by successfully performing their heart surgeries.

While all three children suffered from complex congenital heart diseases, the woman had rheumatic heart disease, severe MR (mitral valve regurgitation) and mild AR (aortic regurgitation). From Medan city of North Sumatra Province in Indonesia, they were diagnosed with the heart ailments at hospitals in Indonesia.

They were reluctant to undergo surgeries due to financial constraints. The Indonesian Rotary contacted Bengaluru Rotary International District 2190 and Needy Heart Foundation Chairperson, Rotarian OP Khanna, and Rotarian Rajendra Rai, who arranged for surgeries at Jayadeva hospital. The patients were admitted on July 21.

The patients — three-year-old William Bunda Jaya underwent VSD (ventricular septal defect) surgical closure and PDA (patent ductus arteriosus), five-year-old Osvaldo Lee underwent ASD (atrial septal defect) device closure, three-year-old Marcello Arka Sean underwent ICR (intensive cardiac rehabiliatation) for TOF (tetralogy of fallot), and 28-year-old woman Indah Pratiwi Tanjung underwent mitral valve replacement.

The accused has been identified as Parameshwar. The accused claimed to be a BBMP assistant executive engineer (AEE) and personal secretary to the chief secretary and said he had come to attend a meeting. As the security staff grew suspicious, they asked him for his ID card following which he produced a BBMP ID card. They asked him to show another ID proof and he produced his driving licence. Both cards had different IDs, the police said. Parameshwar was detained and handed over to the High Grounds police. ENS

Police arrest 10 pig lifters in Bengaluru

Bengaluru: A gang of 10 pig lifters, who were targeting pig farms on the outskirts of the city, have been arrested by the North East Division police. The accused from North Karnataka would come to the city, attack owners and guards of pig farms and escape with the animals. The gang had targeted five different places. The Chikkajala police have recovered pigs worth Rs 20 lakh and other valuables. The gang had committed robberies in Doddaballapura Rural, Soladevanahally and Magadi police station limits. One of the victims, identified as Sandeep, had filed a complaint with the police after the gang attacked his father and escaped with around 80 pigs. ENS

'Poverty key reason for child marriages'

IN a recent survey on child marriage conducted between August 2021 and January 2022 in 17 gram panchayats in 44 villages in Chamarajanagar district by the Initiatives for Married Adolescent Girls Empowerment (IMAGE) 2.0 - a project supported by the Azim Premji Foundation (APF), "We found 530 cases of child marriages mainly from SC and ST communities," said Project Director and Secretary, People's Movement for Self-Reliance (PMSR), Adiss Arnold. IMAGE 2.0 is being implemented by PMSR and Child Rights Trust (CRT) provides technical and advocacy support.

"Poverty and illiteracy are the main reasons of child marriage in Chamarajanagar district. Parents, most of who are coolies, feel that once a girl attains puberty, she is safer in her husband's house. Men in these communities prefer younger girls below the age of 18," added Arnold. The myths and social practices prevalent in these communities are in stark contrast to the PCMA, which defines a child as a person who, if a male, has not completed 21 years of age, and if a female, has not completed 18 years of age.

But in these villages, it is the caste and community panchayats - kula- that hold sway. Sheela, from Hanur taluk, who was married at the age of 14, said she wanted to divorce her husband because of domestic violence and for that her parents have to pay Rs 2 lakh to the kula. "If we pay them money, they will ensure that my husband leaves me," she said. "The kula verdict in the villages is final. The gram panchayats have little to no role. Almost 30 per cent of child marriages end up in divorce granted by the kula. Women spend their lives bringing up their children," said Siddaraju of IMAGE. "Our parents got us married to men at least 10 years older than us. We were told to stay indoors, not talk to anyone, cook and look after the family. We wanted to go to school, play with our friends and dress up well," said Savitha.

Latha (21), who got married at the age of 15 is a mother of two children aged six and four. Her alcoholic husband died by suicide some months ago, leaving her alone to fend for herself and the children.

"Government, community and the courts are now collaborating to end this social evil. Many of these early married women are being trained in skill and vocational training apart from education," said Executive Director, CRT, Vasudeva Sharma NV.

CANINE POWER

Now, elite SPG seeks Karnataka's Mudhol hounds

MAHESH M GOUDAR @Bagalkot:

WITH each passing year, Mudhol hound is reaching new heights as it is all set to make its debut in the elite Special Protecting Group (SPG). The SPG had approached the Karnataka Veterinary Animal and Fisheries Sciences University of Bidar seeking two Mudhol puppies, the dogs are bred at Canine Research and Information Centre (CRIC) of Thimmapur near Mudhol that comes under the purview of the varsity.

Following the request from SPG officials, the CRIC has given two male puppies of Mudhol hound breed to the SPG, which looks after the security of Prime Minister of India.

Earlier, this week, a special team from SPG visited the CRIC at Thimmapur and purchased two male puppies. After the training, these two desi puppies will be inducted into the canine squad of SPG, claimed an official from CRIC.

Even though the Mudhol hound was popular and was also successfully inducted into Indian Army and Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF), even before Prime Minister Narendra Modi made a mention in his 'Mann Ki Baat,' many government institutions like Border Security Force and the Department of Forest came forward to induct them into their canine squads only after the Prime Minister applauded the skills of these desi hounds.

It may also be noted that the Air Force has purchased six puppies of Mudhol breed from CRIC of Thimmapur last year. These dogs have been successfully inducted into the canine squad of Air Force. A year ago, the Karnataka State Police inducted the desi Mudhol hound into its canine squad.

Barrack houses 120 men

ACCORDING to the complaint, the rifles were provided to Rajesh Kumar and Sandeep Meena from Madurai ITBP during the ongoing 48th Pre-Induction Training (for deployment in anti-Naxal operation). The rifles were stolen from the 3rd floor of the barrack which houses 120 men, possibly on the intervening night of August 16-17.

According to Manish Punetha and Mohd Aslam, roommates of Kumar and Meena, Aslam had seen the two firearms on August 17 in the barrack. The ITBP, in the complaint, informed the police that it has interrogated all the four - Kumar, Meena, Punetha and Aslam but found no clue.

DCP (Crime), P V Sneha said, "A team of Belagavi police has launched an investigation inside and outside the ITBP campus. Our officials are collecting technical evidences and taking fingerprints as part of the preliminary investigation."

The Belagavi police team and the ITBP officials will jointly question several inmates of the campus, said Sneha, adding that she was supervising the probe, which is headed by Assistant Commissioner of Police, S V Girish.

FACE POWER SHORTAGE IF DUES OF GENCOS KEEP MOUNTING

State power distribution companies (discoms) are back in the spotlight with the Centre barring 13 states from buying or selling electricity on power exchanges, citing unpaid dues to power generation companies (gencos). The move could spur power shortages, and while some rushed to clear dues, others may consider challenging the Union's Electricity (Late Payment Surcharge and Related Matters) Rules, 2022, notified in June. Theoretically, a late fee rightly penalises discoms and compensates gencos for delayed revenue realisation. But debarment from exchanges increases purchasing costs for discoms and unwittingly deepens their financial burden, reasoned the Centre for Energy Finance. A Niti Aayog Report pegged the gross debt of discoms to have touched ₹6 lakh crore by March 2022—double than the pre-Uday era—prompting an alarmed Ministry of Power to bugle a warning about a full-blown banking crisis.

Discoms' woes seem never-ending because they cut through the chain from power generation to billing, while solutions are often a day late and a dollar short. Fix one, and another erupts, and so on. RBI's latest State Finances report stressed how state subsidies artificially depress electricity costs for farmers and households, taking it straight into the freebies vs welfare debate. For every unit of electricity sold, discoms are losing 32 paise, which is why their losses are 2.5 times above the world average.

As evidence from the past three bailouts shows, rescue packages strain state finances and the power sector as it accounts for 40% of states' off-budget borrowings. The Centre is doing its bit—its recent stimulus package began supporting discoms with smart meters to cut losses, avoid power thefts, improve collections and bridge the revenue gap between the cost of power procurement and electricity tariffs. But we need a workhorse model to bring parity with peer nations, besides an institutional framework covering all entities like power exchanges, gencos, and discoms to fix the 'leaking bucket' at once. Discoms are integral for the power sector and the economy, as an efficient power supply is its life-sustaining artery.

KERALA MUST HEED WARNINGS FROM COAST

The cries of agony, anger and resentment emanating from the sands of Kerala's extensive coast have been ignored for too long. But can no longer be. For the last few days, the Kerala capital has witnessed a massive protest by people from coastal villages. The Latin Catholic Church-led agitation that started in front of the Secretariat has shifted to the site of the Vizhinjam port project, which the Adani Group is developing, and is gaining strength daily. The protesters want the project halted and a detailed study on its possible impact on their lives and the coastal environment. They say the port, still under construction, has already destroyed hundreds of houses and affected livelihoods. The new port is the immediate trigger for the protest, but the issues affecting the fisherfolk are much larger and remain unaddressed. While climate change and developmental activities have affected people's homes and livelihoods, middlemen and apathetic administration have added to their desperation.

Stopping the construction of the port is not an option before the Central and state governments, which have already invested viability gap funding of ₹1,635 crore and ₹3,436 crore, respectively, in the ₹7,525 crore project. So, they must immediately deal with the agitation that has brought concerns about the future of Kerala's coastal community to the forefront. Since the Ockhi cyclone in 2017, their lives have been in total disarray. There were back-to-back floods in the next two years, while Covid lockdowns affected them badly in 2020 and 2021. Kerala has a 600 km-long coastline which is densely populated. The previous government had estimated that 30,000 families living on the coast face the threat of sea erosion and need rehabilitation.

However, the steps to address their woes remain inadequate. Even the rehabilitation scheme announced after Ockhi hasn't been completed. Ports Minister Ahamed Devarkovil promised to implement a rehabilitation project for all affected fishermen. Given the government's track record, fishermen can't be faulted for not trusting his word. This protest is an eye opener for the government to ensure proper livelihood for those hailed as 'saviours of Kerala' when the floods ravaged the state in 2018.

These celebrations of State glory in the Northeast are no longer celebrations. They have been warped into shows of power between the State and those challenging it

THE STATE OF INDEPENDENCE CELEBRATION

PRADIP PHANJOUBAM
Editor of Imphal Review of Arts and Politics

SOURAV ROY

Celebration of India's Independence Day as also Republic Day, for long has come to be under a cloud in most capitals of the Northeast. With some variations in the degrees of urgency, weeks before these celebrations for the past many decades have come to acquire the look of drills on war fronts. The scenario is not too different in major townships beyond these capitals too. This dismal annual ritual has not worn out despite the fact that insurgency does seem to be on a visible wane in the entire region.

This year has been no different. A number of militant organisations, including the United Liberation Front of Asom (Independent) and the National Socialist Council of Nagaland (Khaplang), and the several Manipur-based underground organisations who together function as a collective under CorCom, the short form for Coordinating Committee, called for a boycott of the Independence Day celebrations a fortnight ahead of the day. The knee-jerk responses to these challenges are also now routine and they are virtual flag marches to demonstrate the power of the establishment. Uniformed, gun-toting security personnel would begin to be seen on street corners frisking people, stopping motorists, checking vehicles and questioning them, or else using sniffer dogs and metal detectors to ensure the roads are clean of unpleasant surprises.

It is also normal for cities like Imphal to slowly begin to wear a deserted look as these celebrations draw close, especially after sunset. Ironically, this is not so much because of fear of militant violence, but to avoid being accosted by security men and go through the ritual humiliation of being scrutinised like petty trouble makers. Nobody is surprised anymore, much less distressed, to see long lines of young men standing or squatting by the sides of the roads under the blazing summer sun, while their identities are being individually verified by security.

These celebrations of State glory in the Northeast today are no longer really celebrations. Instead, they have been steadily warped and disfigured into shows of power between the State and those challenging it. However, those who have lived long enough would know it was never this way even four decades ago. In Imphal for instance, these occasions once wore the look of carnivals, with ordinary men, women and children thronging the streets—not only at the official celebration venue, but also to participate in the fun and frolic on the streets. It was a sight to see—children returning home with their guardians as they proudly displayed colourful balloons and toys, families and friends going out to the cinema together, etc. The mood was always unmistakably one of gaiety.

Politics was also sober and far from polarised then. Those who came out did so for the joy of immersing themselves and their loved ones in the festive atmosphere of public jubilation and not to oblige the State or any brand of politics. There were no larger-than-life billboards of supposedly larger-than-life leaders on the streets, towering over all as if to remind them they were vulnerable but being looked after. There was no flag-waving competitive nationalism or patriotism either, for everybody knew what the day was about and did not need reminders. Instead, the source of joy for children were vendors selling sweetened, coloured ice on sticks. Especially during the Republic Day celebration, schools and colleges trained hard for weeks to send their marching contingents, vying to be recognised as top marchers, just as cultural troupes and local brass bands did.

> It is normal for cities like Imphal to slowly begin to wear a deserted look as these celebrations draw close, especially after sunset. ... Nobody is surprised anymore, much less distressed, to see long lines of young men standing or squatting by the sides of the roads under the blazing summer sun, while their identities are being individually verified

Those days have unfortunately become distant memories and are receding further and further into darkness. Today, official parades are no longer held on the open streets but in gated compounds of police cantonments or inside the Kangla Fort in Imphal, the old seat of power of the erstwhile kingdom of Manipur. The Fort is cordoned off during the celebration and entry is restricted. By the turn of another generation, whatever remains of that innocent and happier memory, would probably have vanished altogether, unless something happens to alter the situation radically. No amount of induced flag-waving can substitute that nostalgia.

Hopefully, this change will happen and the complex, multi-ethnic conflict situation in the region is transformed to usher in durable peace. These conflicts are also not exactly mindless as many often jump to the conclusion. They spawned from certain inconsistencies of visions of identity and dignified life. Though these conditions cannot easily be defined precisely, what needs to be understood is, they are a residue of collective experiences of different peoples through the ages. This being so, it would be a fallacy and travesty of justice to ask them to change what was shaped over so many aeons overnight.

The traumatic rush under which modern republican Indian nationhood was forged in 1947 would have somewhat made inevitable the aggressive campaigns to have people conform to what was then believed to be mainstream. The Northeast region unfortunately became one of those at the receiving end of this often coercive mainstreaming. That insurrections sprang up in the region almost at the time of Indian Independence should be an indicator of this.

The Nagas were first to say no to be part of this mainstream, but seeds for future unrest were also embedded—though in hibernation then—in many other communities at the time. Many of these societies waited and watched to see if peaceful resolution of their inherent insecurities would come about naturally. Unfortunately, for various reasons, this did not happen soon enough, and one after the other, many more raised the banner of resistance to the assimilation process.

So much water has flowed down the many rivers of the region in the decades that went by, and as they say, as in the case of rivers, there is no way anybody can step into the same time frame more than once. So much has changed and if all stakeholders are courageous enough to strike the refresh button, or even to reboot, perhaps a brave new world where all these past hiccups have been done away with, will begin to look possible.

INDIA IS NOT INSECURE, CHINA CERTAINLY IS

N SATHIYA MOORTHY
Policy analyst and commentator

In a recent exclusive interview with the The New Indian Express, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar declared that India was 'too big and strong to (feel) insecure'. But China, which is bigger and perceived to be stronger than India, does not seem to feel so. Going by what Chinese Ambassador Sun Weidong indicated in New Delhi, Beijing keeps wanting Indian reassurance every now and again that it would not go back on the 'One China' policy vis-à-vis Taiwan, this time after the controversial visit of the US House Speaker Nancy Pelosi.

Even as it purportedly demonstrated its military might and perceived strategic supremacy by undertaking a series of war exercises with live missiles around Taiwan, China still had its envoys across the world calling on the respective Heads of State/Government to seek and record such reassurance in the local media. In doing so, those envoys added their own host government to the long list of nations that still swore by the 'One China' policy. In this context, the problem for China was that New Delhi had not reiterated the 'One China' policy in recent years. Arindam Bagchi, the spokesperson for the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA), then clarified that there was no need to keep repeating the same position every now and again. Whether China is satisfied with the response or if it was seeing ghosts where none existed remains to be known.

Unilateral changes

Beijing's headcount of nations still backing the 'One China' policy has continued even after the American superpower rival, too, had declared its continued attestation of the 'One China' policy. A US State Department spokesperson went on to reassert that they did not support Taiwan's independence but were against 'unilateral changes to the status quo by either side' and wanted 'cross-Strait (Taiwanese Strait) differences resolved through peaceful means'. It was after Arindam Bagchi said as much.

Tibet Policy

Beijing's suspicions about India are not confined to the 'One China' policy. On what remains a bilateral issue, it wants India to reiterate the nation's 'Tibet Policy' now and again—this means New Delhi's acknowledgement of the one-time Himalayan Kingdom being a part of China since annexation decades ago. This flows from a sense of insecurity, which Jaishankar asserted that India did not suffer from.

The Indian sense of security and consequent clarity in the two matters is seen in New Delhi not feeling such a need to keep reiterating its policy position once declared. Against this, Beijing has been demonstrating its lack of self-confidence. So, it is trying to showcase its might by claiming that Arunachal Pradesh was a part of China. However, this is aimed at making it a bargaining chip on the larger border dispute, over which negotiations have been stalled for long.

The Dalai Lama factor

Less said about China's apprehensions about a future Dalai Lama. Its perceptions about an Indian role in the affair are killing bilateral relations and border negotiations. This is so even after the incumbent Dalai Lama has distanced himself from politics, leaving politics and diplomacy to the Tibetan 'government-in-exile' in Dharamshala, Himachal Pradesh. A confident China that is also wise would have instead breathed easy at the fact that past Indian commitments are limited to the present Dalai Lama, and there is no political element to it.

> China's issuance of 'paper visas' for Indian citizens from Arunachal Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh are all a further expression of Beijing's immature ... approach to international diplomacy in the 21st century... Xi Jinping's China thus belongs to the medieval era when lonely nations asserted their non-existent self-confidence by going to war on border issues and the like

Showing its 'prowess'

In context, China's issuance of 'paper visas' for Indian citizens from Arunachal Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh are all a further expression of Beijing's immature and tentative approach to international diplomacy in the 21st century—that too when it wanted the rest of the world to believe that it was an emerging superpower.

Xi Jinping's China thus belongs to the medieval era when lonely nations asserted their non-existent self-confidence by going to war on border issues and the like.

China is brash and crude in its dealings with adversaries—in thought, word and deed. Galway is proof enough. India is firm and clear. Jaishankar telling Europe in Slovakia not very long ago not to lecture India on Russian oil purchases when they were buying Russian gas is a case in point. As he said, India would do what it thought was good for India. Though not everyone wants to acknowledge this, it has been a post-Independence inheritance and legacy.

Neighbourhood First

In contrast, a more confident India, as Jaishankar asserted, has conferred greater clarity on its 'Neighbourhood First' policy, which was being practised without a nomenclature but has acquired one under Prime Minister Narendra Modi. India's Covid assistance of every kind, including credit facilities to smaller neighbours, stand out in contrast. So has been New Delhi's conduct in sending shiploads of food, fuel and medicines to Sri Lanka when the island nation was hit by the unprecedented economic crisis, for which the country was clearly unprepared, too.

Unlike Chinese nervousness over Pelosi's Taiwan visit, India was not jumping up and down over China's dual-purpose research or spy ship, Yuan Wang 5, docking at Hambantota Port, which is on a 99-year-long lease-possession of the Chinese. That too after Colombo had clarified its position—whether satisfactory or not!

Bharat must grow

Prabhu Chawla's column Indian Democracy is now the rule of a few, for fewer, by the fewest (August 14) makes it an authentic piece about independent India's 75 years of history. It reads like a 'State of the Union' message. It is also a compact history of India's governance over these 75 years, on 'Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav'. He rightly remarks, "Indian democracy is a prisoner of performing personalities." It is true that "the resurgent yet exclusive democracy is a democracy of the few, by the fewer and for the fewest." The lofty Institutions like the Supreme Court, the Election Commission, and the independent Press, should rightfully play their roles, to prevent it from being "grabbed by a tiny prosperous India and leaving a penurious Bharat out."

Disrespecting women

Apropos of Respect for women a sham, violence is reality (August 19). The release of the 11 convicts in the Bilkis Bano gangrape case, and the bail to a sexual harassment accused in Kerala—point to a harsh reality in our country. It is how we keep talking about gender equality in all spheres but do not follow it. As a society, we are doomed.

Ambedkar portrait

Apropos of Install Ambedkar portrait in govt law colleges: Court (August 19). The Madurai bench of the Madras High Court approved a petition filed by a student to install a picture of Ambedkar in the principal's office. The student had uttered rude words to his principal and had tried to mobilise peers while classes were on. This sends a wrong message. The decision to install a certain picture should be left to individual colleges.

Big no-no to theorists

This is with reference to Scientists censor Big-Bang naysayers (August 19). The objection to the anti-Big Bang theorists' work stems from the reluctance to defy an already established theory. To draw a parallel, wave theory was not initially accepted because everyone accepted the corpuscular theory. Due to the advent of the electromagnetic theory, wave theory became highly regarded. Hopefully, scientific sense prevails among the Big Bang theory scientists too.

Shahnawaz has clout

The political top brass always gets preferential treatment at every step. Syed Shahnawaz Hussain, ex-minister and BJP leader, has all the clout needed to stall the proceedings against him ordered by a lower court in 2018. With bigwigs exploiting the system, how can a common man live peacefully?

Revamp of 'ghost villages' along LAC

Authorities to boost infrastructure in abandoned villages with an aim to bring locals back

SUMIT KUMAR SINGH @ New Delhi

'GHOST villages' — the areas deserted by villagers — along the Line of Actual Control with China will soon see a reverse migration with Indian forces strengthening infrastructure in the region.

The move comes in the backdrop of China developing model villages following the 2020 Ganlwan conflict and the prolonged border standoff.

Officials say there are over 500 'ghost villages' along the LAC. These villages are abandoned or have a sparse population with limited connectivity.

Indian authorities have started approaching residents of these hundreds villages along the border to return, promising basic amenities such as health facilities and education.

Villagers along border areas are the second line of defence after the Army or the Indo-Tibetan Border Police. The government now plans to rebuild these areas with offers of hill-centric livelihood and tourism opportunities.

A senior government officer said that in eastern Ladakh, villages are located far from the LAC. At many places, people have migrated to cities in other regions seeking livelihood. In Himachal Pradesh, such villages have not witnessed a reverse migration. The villagers have settled in lower hills or have gone further down towards the plains.

However, in Uttarakhand, a large-scale reverse migration has taken place with people returning to their villages after tourism prospects brightened up. In Sikkim and eastern Arunachal Pradesh, there is no reverse migration due to the lack of basic amenities.

Major General Ashok Kumar, VSM (Rtd) says the Army and border forces have to work in close coordination with local government authorities for the creation of model habitats with medical and education facilities in these 'ghost villages.'

"Adequate infrastructure has to be in place to create tourism opportunities. Plus other facilities should be extended for the local population to enable them to re-start living in those villages. States have to facilitate availability of land for various activities," said the former Army officer.

China has built around 680 Xiaokang, which they call "well-off" villages across the borders. These are meant for military use as well as the second line of civilian resistance.

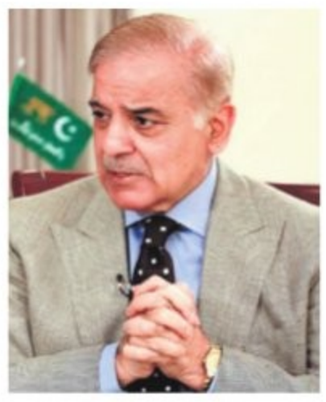
The authorities have planned construction of housing and tourist centres, roads and provisioning of decentralized renewable energy, direct-to-home access for Doordarshan and educational channels as well as means for employment.

"All villages will have at least one primary school. Residential quarters will be built for teachers within the school campus," said an officer.

The Union Home Ministry also plans to chip in with various schemes under 'Vibrant Village Programme' along the LAC. A detailed project report has been prepared, sources said. To meet expenses for redevelopment, the ministry's allocation for border management has been increased by nearly 43% from ₹1921.39 crore to ₹2517.02 crore in the annual budget for 2022-23.

Ahead of SCO summit, Pakistan PM talks about peaceful ties with India

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi



WITH less than a month to go for the SCO Summit in Samarkand, Pakistan's tone and tenor about resumption of talks with India appears to be softening.

In a meeting with Australia's newly appointed ambassador in Pakistan, Neil Hawkins, Pakistan's Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif said he aspires to have peaceful bilateral ties with India. He also spoke about a peaceful resolution of the Kashmir issue.

This is the first time since Sharif came to power that he has expressed a desire to have peaceful bilateral relations with India. He is also believed to have said that the role of the international community will facilitate peace process in the region.

"Pakistan is in a political and economic mess that could push it over the cliff like Sri Lanka. Internal unrest and regional instability are threatening its survival. It is left with little choice but to mend bridges with India. What Sharif has communicated to the Australian High Commissioner also indicates that it is hoping to involve close partners of India for a possible thaw, ahead of the upcoming SCO Summit in Samarkand during Sept 15-17," according to an expert on India-Pakistan relations.

Inflation is running above 38 per cent annually in Pakistan, and Standards and Poor Global have downgraded Pakistan's long-term outlook to negative. Pakistan is also desperately seeking help from the International Monetary Fund (IMF) for an urgent release of funds.

There is coordination between India and Pakistan on one multilateral forum — the World Trade Organization (WTO). Both countries have made two joint submissions at the WTO as co-sponsors during the past few months. In June, Pakistan joined India, Cuba, and 44 African countries, seeking sufficient flexibility in intellectual property rights for developing countries to fight the Covid-19 pandemic. In July, the same group of countries had again submitted a communication to the WTO on strengthening the intergovernmental organisation to promote development and inclusivity.

6K CITIZENS WRITE TO SC ON BILKIS RAPISTS

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

Social organisations hold a demonstration against release of convicts in Bilkis Bano's gang-rape case in Ahmedabad on Friday| EXPRESS

A number of voluntary organizations on Friday demonstrated against the remission of sentences of 11 convicts for the murder of 14 people and gang-rape of Bikis Bano in Dahod district in 2002 by the Gujarat government and demanded revocation of the decision.

The protest was announced by Saheli Women's Resource Centre, a voluntary organization working for the welfare of women, Gujarat Mahila Manch, Ahmedabad Women's Action Group and All India Mahila Sanskritik Sangathan, PUCL. At least 60-70 social activists were detained during the demonstration.

Meanwhile, around 6,000 eminent citizens from across India wrote a letter to the Supreme Court against the remission of the sentence. In a signed statement released to the media, civil society groups urged the Supreme Court to "undo this grave miscarriage of justice".

"On the morning of August 15, 2022, in his Independence Day address to the nation, the Prime Minister of India spoke of women's rights, dignity, and Nari Shakti. That very afternoon, Bilkis Bano learned that the perpetrators, who killed her family, murdered her three-year-old daughter, gang-raped, and left her to die, had walked free. No one sent her notice. No one asked how she felt," a statement from the eminent citizen's group said.

"The guidelines issued by the Centre to states on a prisoner release policy to coincide with Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav, clearly states that among the categories of prisoners NOT to be granted special remission are 'those convicted of rape'. And the remission of these sentences is not only immoral and unconscionable, it violates Gujarat's existing remission policy...," the statement added.

Telangana: TRS MLC Kavitha writes to CJI

Ruling TRS MLC K Kavitha on Friday requested Chief Justice of India NV Ramana to intervene in the Gujarat government's decision to release 11 convicts in the case relating to Bilkis Bano gang-rape and murder of her kin case during the 2002 riots in the western state.

The Telangana ruling party legislator pointed out that the case was investigated by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) and it was the Special CBI Court that sentenced these convicts

Rajpath development complete; 3-km avenue ready for opening

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE wait for the opening of refurbished Central Vista known as Rajpath is finally over. According to the officials, redevelopment work along the nearly three-km-long avenue is complete and it will be inaugurated anytime soon.

However, the Central government is yet to finalise the date for its inaugural ceremony, said officials.

In July, during an interaction with media persons, Union Housing and Urban Affairs Minister Hardeep Singh Puri said that redevelopment of the stretch starting from Vijay Chowk to India Gate would be completed in about two weeks however the deadline was extended as final touches were being given to underpasses, planned for safe and unhindered movement of walkers.

The Central Vista redevelopment plan includes construction of a new triangular parliament building, vice president enclave, and common central secretariat buildings 1, 2 & 3.

Rajpath is out of bounds for people since it was closed in February. The project was supposed to be completed by December 2021.

Crushed brick walkways along both sides of the boulevard have been replaced with sandstone pavements. Besides, an amphitheatre and 16 food stalls, low-level bridges over refurbished water channels have been developed. Sprawling lawns spreading over nearly 100 acres now have improved public amenities.

The officials further informed that four underpasses have been created to facilitate pedestrians and space to accommodate approximately 1,000 cars is being made available.

The construction work of the new parliament house has already been expedited to meet the deadline so that the upcoming winter session can be held in the building.

Army team visits Ladakh to study force integration

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

A delegation of officers under the leadership of the Chief CISC Air Marshal BM Krishna on 19 August visited the Ladakh based Fire and Fury Corps of the Indian Army to study integration of the armed forces. A study and analysis of the various models is being worked out with an aim to integrate all three forces and synergise them for modern warfare.

Talking about the visit, Fire and Fury Corps tweeted, "Air Marshal BR Krishna, CISC along with a team of 11 officers and scientists visited Fire and Fury Corps to study integration in various domains."

Air Marshal Krishna is head of the Integrated Defence Staff as the Chief of Integrated Defence Staff to the Chairman Chiefs of Staff Committee. It is a point organisation of the Ministry of Defence for jointmanship integrating the policy, doctrine, war fighting and procurement.

The Fire and Fury corps (14 Corps) is a strategic Corps of the Indian Army under the Northern Command which has the areas of Line of Control and Line of Actual Control under its areas of responsibility. The ongoing standoff with China in the Eastern Ladakh falls under this Corps which is headed by Lt Gen Anindya Sengupta. It is the 14 Corps Commander who heads the Indian delegation during the Corps Commanders talks with China on disengagement.

Air Marshal Krishna is on a visit to the headquarters of Indian Army's Fire and Fury Corps in Ladakh to study integration in various domains. India is reorganising its Armed Forces on the pattern of theatre commands which China and the US also have.

Govt launches green drive on Janmashtami

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THE Bhupesh Baghel government in Chhattisgarh on Friday invoked the sentiment associated with Lord Krishna on Janmashtami, and launched a drive on tree plantation. The campaign, called 'Krishna Kunj', was launched in all urban areas of the state.

The government has earmarked a minimum of one acre in each urban municipal body to begin the environment-friendly initiative on plantation of select venerated trees having traditional values.

With works continuing on the state's 'Ram Van Gaman Path' (the route undertaken by Lord Ram's 14 years of exile in Chhattisgarh) and evolving as key religious tourism, the Congress government is now going ahead to create 'Krishna Kunj'— land where trees like Banyan, Peepal, Neem, Burflower (Kadam), Babul, mulberry, custard apple among others will be planted in all urban areas.

"India has an ancient tradition of worshipping trees like Banyan, Peepal, Neem, Kadam and others that have gained a significant space in our cultural history as they remain beneficial to mankind. Their existence is now endangered in the name of development of urban areas and if such a tendency persists, our future generations would be unaware of the cultural values of these plants", Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel said.

Women have more sex partners than men in 11 states, UTs: Survey

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

WOMEN on average have more sex partners than men in 11 states and union territories in India, according to the National Family Health Survey (NFHS)-5. The NFHS-5, which was conducted among 1.1 lakh women and 1 lakh men, showed that the number of sex partners on average for women was higher than men in many states and union territories.

Rajasthan had the highest number of women who had on an average 3.1 sex partners as against the 1.8 for men.

The other states and Union Territories include Haryana, Chandigarh, Jammu and Kashmir, Ladakh, Madhya Pradesh, Assam, Kerala, Lakshadweep, Puducherry and Tamil Nadu.

However, the proportion of men who had intercourse with someone who was neither their spouse nor live-in partner stood at 4 per cent. For women, the figure stood at 0.5 per cent.

The NFHS -5, conducted during 2019-21, surveyed 707 districts of the country from 28 states and eight UTs.

The percentage of young people aged 15-24, who have had sex before age 15, has decreased between NFHS-4 and NFHS-5 for women (from 3 per cent to 2 per cent) and men (from 0.9 per cent to 0.5 per cent).

The data also said that urban women aged 25-49 begin having sex almost two years later than rural women. The median age at first sex is 20.2 years for women in the urban areas, compared with 18.5 years for women in the rural areas.

In India, the median age at first sexual intercourse is 18.9 years for women aged 25-49. Ten per cent of women aged 25-49 had sex before age 15, and 39 per cent before age 18.

The median age at first intercourse for men age 25-49 in India is 24.8, six years older than women. One percent of men age 25-49 first had intercourse before age 15, and 6 percent had intercourse before age 18. By age 25, 52 percent of men age 25-49 have had intercourse.

Wheat production drops due to March heat wave

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

INDIA'S 2022 wheat production reduced by 3 per cent due to the heat wave in March, the government's estimates say, even as an analysis based on climate models puts the figure at 4.5 per cent, with some of the major grain bowl states taking a hit of 10-15 per cent.

India is the second largest wheat producer in the world, and the heat wave led the government to pause its export.

The heat wave has reduced India's 2022 wheat production by 4.5 percent compared to a normal-weather year, according to a statistical model built by Balsher Singh Sidhu from the University of British Columbia-Vancouver, using historical weather and wheat production data from 1966-2017, which is available freely from ICRISAT and Indian Meteorological Department.

The paper in pre-prints focuses on five wheat-producing states — Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Punjab, Haryana, and Rajasthan — which account for around 90 per cent of India's wheat production.

"While all five states are estimated to have experienced average yield losses of 4-6 per cent, some regions like Rampur, Bareilly, and Pilibhit in Uttar Pradesh and Raipur in erstwhile Madhya Pradesh may be looking at 10-15 percent less production compared to a normal year. More alarmingly, some crop-cutting experiments, like those from Punjab, have reported yield losses of up to 30 per cent in certain places," it said.

The agriculture ministry's fourth advance estimate for the year released Wednesday said India's wheat production is projected to have reduced by nearly 3 per cent to 1,068.4 lakh metric tonne and the reason attributed was heat wave.

Meghalaya TMC eyes Cong vacuum

12 of 17 Cong MLAs defected to TMC last Nov, propping Mamata's party as main Oppn

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

TMC leader Mukul Sangma (right) has written to PM Narendra Modi about alleged corruption in ruling National People's Party govt led by Conrad Sangma (left)

With the Congress being reduced to a shadow of its glorious past in Meghalaya, the Trinamool Congress (TMC) is trying hard to grow, with the readily available help being provided by a crumbling grand old party. The TMC is looking at its brightening chances of emerging as an alternative to the National People's Party (NPP), which currently heads the state's coalition government.

The BJP and some regional parties are the other components of the ruling Meghalaya Democratic Alliance.

In November last year, 12 of the 17 Congress MLAs had defected to the Trinamool, thereby dramatically making the Mamata Banerjee-led party the state's principal opposition force overnight. It had no presence in the state prior to this "political coup".

Even as the Congress was licking its wounds, its five remaining MLAs "unilaterally" decided to join the BJP-backed Conrad K Sangma government. It forced the Congress to suspend them from the party for three years.

The Trinamool is now looking to grab the space left vacant by the dismal presence of the Congress. Over the past six months or so, it has been vociferous in the state's political landscape, attacking the government, particularly on the issue of corruption. It is also trying to dispel the notion that it is a "Bangla" party, in which everything will be controlled from Kolkata if it rises to power in Meghalaya.

During his visit to Shillong in June, TMC leader Abhishek Banerjee had told a crowd: "Some people will try to brand us (Trinamool) as a Bengali party, but let me assure you that Meghalaya will be run by the people of Meghalaya and not by the Bengalis."

The Sangma government is facing charges of corruption, particularly in the power sector. Buckling under pressure, it has ordered separate investigations. The Trinamool Congress has made corruption its poll plank.

> The voting pattern in Meghalaya is individual-oriented, not party-oriented. So unless you know the candidates, it is difficult to make any predictions on party lines
>
> Toki Blah, political observer

Party leader and former chief minister Mukul Sangma on Thursday wrote to Prime Minister Narendra Modi seeking an investigation by a central agency into alleged corruption in the implementation of some projects and schemes by the power department in the state.

Meghalaya has three regions – Khasi Hills, Jaintia Hills and Garo Hills. Eight of the 12 Trinamool Congress MLAs hail from the Garo Hills and four of them belong to the family of Mukul Sangma. The party has three MLAs from Khasi Hills and one from Jaintia Hills.

Observers feel that the Trinamool Congress will have to move heaven and earth to be able to put up a fight against the ruling coalition, let alone unseat it and capture power. While the party is on a firm footing in Garo Hills, it hardly has any base in Khasi and Jaintia Hills.

Even as it is working hard to spread its limbs to Khasi and Jaintia Hills, speculations are rife that two MLAs from these regions will jump ship and contest the polls on the tickets of another party. According to observers, the immediate challenge for the Trinamool will be to keep its house in order.

Toki Blah, a political scientist, said it is too early to make any predictions on the elections.

"The voting pattern in Meghalaya is individual-oriented, not party-oriented. So unless you know the candidates, it is difficult to make any predictions on party lines," he told this newspaper.

Trinamool raises pitch against govt

Over the past six months or so, the Trinamool Congress has become more vociferous in the state's political landscape, attacking the government, particularly on the issue of corruption. It is also trying to dispel the notion that it is a "Bangla" party, in which everything will be controlled from Kolkata if it rises to power in Meghalaya.

Student dead after teacher beats him for late fee in UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

A Class 3 student in Shravasti district of Uttar Pradesh died after a teacher thrashed him badly for not paying the school fee. The student, 13-year-old Brijesh Vishwakarma, died at a hospital in Bahraich on Wednesday.

As per police sources, the incident took place at Pandit Brahmin Uchchattam Madhyamik School Chaulahi under Sirsiya police station area in Shravasti on August 8.

Shravasti police authorities confirmed the incident, saying a case was lodged in the matter against the teacher on the basis of a complaint submitted by the victim's uncle.

Shravasti's Superintendent of Police Arvind K Maurya said: "The 13-year-old student who was studying in class 3 died in a hospital in Bahraich on August 17. His uncle complained that he was beaten by his school teacher on August 8. A case has been registered under relevant sections and investigation is underway."

The family of the deceased alleged that the boy was beaten mercilessly by the teacher as his school fee was not deposited. Sources said the teacher, Anupam Pathak, initially slapped the child for not bringing the money. The student kept begging for mercy but the teacher did not stop and thrust himself upon his back, and continued to beat him until he became unconscious. After sometime, when he regained consciousness, the school principal also threatened him of dire consequences if he shared the incident with his parents.

Local sources said after the child reached home, the family members rushed him to the district hospital where the doctors referred him to Bahriach Medical College owing to his serious condition. The boy succumbed to his injuries after battling for life for eight days.

The cictim's brother, Rajesh Vishwakarma, said he had deposited the school fee – ₹250 per month – online. But the teacher did not know about it, and thrashed his brother. "His hand was fractured and there was internal bleeding which led to his death," Rajesh added.

The victim's family, along with other local people, demonstrated at Bhinga-Sirsia Marg. They were then assured by the police of thorough probe.

BJP-Shinde govt has no chance: Survey

The newest CVoter survey has predicted that if a Lok Sabha elections is to happens today in Maharashtra, then the BJP-Eknath Shinde combine would get just 18 seats while the Maha Vikas Aghadi will bring home the remaining 30 seats. It shows that the revolt of Eknath Shinde against Shiv Sena president Uddhav Thackeray has not gone down well with the electorate and that the mood is not at all in favour of the new combine in power in the state. BJP has 23 Lok Sabha seats while Shiv Sena has 18 – 12 among them with Shinde camp. It shows that Shinde joining hands with 41 MLAs and 12 Shiv Sena MPs will not help BJP.

Central role: Fadnavis elevated, Gadkari out

Union Minister Nitin Gadkari last week said that if Devendra Fadnavis moves to national politics, then new Maharashtra BJP president Chandrasekhar Bawankule can be the CM of Maharashtra. Gadkari's statement seems to turn true at least half way now. He also hinted at going into 'sanyas' and taking a break from active politics. BJP has relieved Nitin Gadkari from the BJP's central parliamentary board and election committee while Devendra Fadnavis has been elevated to the central election committee. This maybe an entry point for BJP leaders in national politics.

Faction row: Shiv Sena staffers yet to get paid

Employees of the Shiv Sena office at Vidhan Bhavan have been deprived of their salaries for the last several months due to the infighting between Shiv Sena chief Uddhav Thackeray and CM Eknath Shinde factions. As per bank account record, both Eknath Shinde and party chief whip Sunil Prabhu's assent is mandatory to issue cheques for these employees. The division and change in leadership, however, has deprived them. In Shinde faction, the CM is the legislator leader while Bharat Gogawale is the chief whip while in Thackeray faction, Ajay Chaudhari is legislator leader while Sunil Prabhu is chief whip.

Maha govt mulls lifting restriction on CBI probes

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

The Shinde-Fadnavis government in Maharashtra is likely to lift restrictions on the Central Bureau Of Investigations (CBI) probes in the state.

The previous Maha Vikas Aghadi government had imposed restrictions on the CBI, which required the central agency to seek the state government's approval to initiate a probe.

According to sources, Chief minister Eknath Shinde and Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis had a series of meetings over lifting restrictions on the central agency.

The Maha Vikas Aghadi move had come a day after the CBI registered an FIR in the TRP scam, allegedly involving a television news channel. The Mumbai Police, which registered the case on October 8, 2020 was conducting a probe into the matter. The CBI on Tuesday took over the investigation based on an FIR filed in Uttar Pradesh.

According to the sources, the restriction is expected to be lifted soon by the new government in a cabinet meeting.

There are at least seven states at present which have withdrawn general consent to the CBI, requiring the agency to seek case-specific permission. These states include Mizoram, West Bengal, Rajasthan, Maharashtra, Chhattisgarh, Kerala and Jharkhand. Most of these states are Opposition-ruled states

The CBI is governed by the Delhi Special Police Establishment Act (DPSEA). This law makes the CBI a special wing of Delhi Police and thus its original jurisdiction is limited to Delhi. Therefore, the consent of the state is very crucial to carry out the probe. Some states have given natural consent while reserved rights with them.

1 dead, another injured in coal mine mishap

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

ONE person died while another was injured at an illegal coal mine in Meghalaya on Thursday. The cause of the tragedy, at Shallang in West Khasi Hills, was not immediately known.

Confirming the incident, Superintendent of Police Herbert G Lyngdoh said, "I have sent a team to the site. It's a remote area. According to the preliminary reports, one dead body has been recovered. The injured was also rescued."

Lependro Sangma (34) and Hendid Momin (33), both from Uguri village, were trapped in the mine. Sangma lost his life.

Activist Agnes Kharshiing, who has been fighting against illegal coal mining and was also once attacked by the mafia, said the incident belies the government's claim that no illegal mining is taking place.

"Who is protecting the coal mafia?," Agnes asked.

Rat-hole coal mining has been banned by the NGT as well as the Supreme Court.

Bihar: Tej Pratap draws flak after brother-in-law attends dept meeting

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

LALU Prasad's maverick son and Bihar Environment and Forest Minister Tej Pratap Yadav has landed in trouble after a picture showing his elder brother-in-law Shailesh Kumar sitting in an official meeting surfaced on Friday.

Shailesh is the husband of Lalu's eldest daughter Misa Bharti who is also a Rajya Sabha member. Tej Pratap shared the picture on social media, in which he is in a meeting with officers from Bihar State Pollution Control Board (BSPCB) and Shailesh is seen sitting next to the BSPCB chairman. The picture was later deleted from social media.

Shailesh, however, said he had gone there to congratulate Tej Pratap after his induction in the Nitish Kumar team.

Tej Pratap, who was the health minister when the RJD-led grand alliance was in power from 2015 and 2017, is known for his 'unconventional' methods.

Even his elder brother and Deputy CM Tejashwi Yadav, who also holds the health portfolio, also landed in controversy when his political advisor Sanjay Yadav was seen along with him in a meeting of the departmental officers. Sanjay does not hold any official position. Only ministers and officers are allowed to attend the departmental meetings.

Former deputy CM and BJP's Rajya Sabha MP Sushil Kumar Modi has asked Nitish to clarify his position over Shailesh attending the BSPCB meeting. "The question is how Shailesh could attend the meeting and why officers did not stop him from attending it. It is just the beginning. Lalu Prasad will interfere in everything," said Modi.

Taking a dig at Tej Pratap, state BJP spokesperson Nikhil Anand said, "The RJD is a party of a family. Serving the family's selfish interests is its prime duty.."

Lalu was also in the limelight for his proximity with his two 'salas' (brothers-in-law) — Aniruddha Prasad alias Sadhu Yadav and Subhash Yadav — during his stint as the chief minister.

"We were not surprised by the conduct of Lalu's elder son. Such things have happened during the Lalu-Rabri regime," said BJP functionary Rajiv Kumar Singh.

Tej Pratap is not the only minister under Nitish to have breached protocol. Last year, Vikassheel Insaan Party chief Mukesh Sahani had sent his brother to attend a meeting when he was minister for animal husbandry in the NDA government. Nitish had then expressed his displeasure at the minister's behaviour.

MP cop suspended for seeking help from godman to crack murder case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal

ASI posted in Chhatarpur district sought Baba Pandokhar Sarkar Maharaj's counsel and also arrested the murdered girl's uncle at his behest | EXPRESS

EVER imagined a uniformed cop seeking guidance and help from a 'Baba' (religious preacher) in cracking a murder case? But it has actually happened in Madhya Pradesh, where an assistant sub inspector (ASI) was seen on camera seeking divine help from a godman in identifying the suspect in murder of a 17-year-old girl on July 28.

The ASI posted in Chhatarpur district's Bamitha police station, not only took guidance from the godman, identified as Baba Pandokhar Sarkar Maharaj, but also arrested the murdered girl's uncle in the case at the behest on Baba.

Acting in the matter, the Chhatarpur district superintendent of police Sachin Sharma has suspended the ASI, A Sharma, and also attached him to the district police lines, said Pankaj Sharma, station in-charge of Bamitha police.

In the 2.50-minutes video, the religious preacher can be heard saying that he has called out the names of few persons, but the one that he has missed would lead to murder's actual suspect.

The religious preacher is also seen telling the cop that the prime suspect was from Majhguwan area.

"I'm not saying that the person whose name I didn't take has actually committed the crime, but that person will lead you to the conclusion. This will lead to a gang of four persons," the godman was heard saying in the video

A few days later, the Bamitha police took Tirath Ahirwar into custody, alleging that Ahirwar, uncle of the deceased girl, killed the girl for having an illicit affair. The girl was strangled to death and her body was found in a well in Ota Purva village under Bamitha police station area.

"Tirath was tortured in police custody and forced to admit his involvement in crime," a close relative of Tirth told journalists.

Rice mill owned by Mondal's daughter raided

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

A team of CBI sleuths raided a rice mill owned by TMC leader Anubrata Mondal's daughter Sukanya, and found six expensive vehicles registered in others names. One of the car owners, Prabir Mondal, said he was forced to give his car, while a contractor, Arup Bhattacharya, alleged he had to pay ₹10 crore to Mondal to bag contract for work at the civic body. The CBI suspects the property, spread over 10 acres in Bolpur, Birbhum, was part of the proceeds of cattle smuggling allegedly masterminded by Mondal.

"Mondal purchased two rice mills in his daughter's name and converted it to one unit. There are allegations that the previous owners were forced to sell their mills. We are probing the source of funds used to buy the mills," a CBI official said.

Officials say Mondal is not cooperating. "We are preparing to question Sukanya as fixed deposits of ₹16.97 crore were found in her name and of other relatives," said an officer.

MLAs asked to remain in Ranchi ahead of EC verdict on Soren

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

IN the wake of Election Commission of India (ECI) keeping its verdict reserved in office of profit case against CM Hemant Soren, the ruling alliance in Jharkhand is learnt to have put its MLAs in alert mode. The Congress is said to have directed its MLAs not to leave Jharkhand till Aug. 24, asking them to ensure that they reach the state capital within five hours in case of any crisis-like situation.

Meanwhile, Assembly Speaker Rabindra Nath Mahto and another JMM MLA Niral Purty cancelled their visit to Canada for attending a Commonwealth Programme. This has also sparked speculations. Sources in the ruling alliance informed that a meeting of UPA MLAs has been called on Saturday to chalk out a strategy to deal with any possible crisis which may arise in case EC gives its verdict against CM Hemant Soren.

The ECI on August 12 concluded the hearing of the case and the verdict is likely to come any time now. Sources claimed that the leaders in the ruling alliance are panicking after EC kept its verdict reserved.

"A strategy has to be chalked out in advance to deal with the possible crisis which may arise. All MLAs from Congress, JMM and RJD have been asked to attend a meeting slated to be held at 11:00 am on Saturday," said a Congress party worker.

Congress legislative party leader Alamgir Alam, however, called it baseless speculation. "It is nothing new as we have been calling such meetings in the past as well."

Alam added that whatever is the EC verdict, numbers will remain with UPA.

JMM general secretary and spokesperson Supriyo Bhattacharya also called it a rumour spread by BJP. "After Dec. 29, 2019, BJP has been trying to topple this government, " he said. State Congress chief Rajesh Thakur said efforts being made by BJP to destabilise the Hemant Soren movement will not work.

The UPA has 50 MLAs (30 from JMM, 18 from Congress, 1 from CPI (ML) and 1 from NCP), while the opposition has 30 MLAs (26 BJP, 2 AJSU and 2 Independents) with them in the 81-member Assembly. One needs the support of 41 MLAs to form a government in Jharkhand.

UPA calls MLAs' meeting today

A meeting of UPA MLAs has been called on Saturday to draw a strategy to deal with any possible crisis that may arise in case the Election Commission of India gives its verdict against CM Hemant Soren, sources said. The ECI concluded the hearing of the case on Aug. 12 and verdict is likely to come any time now

China jails Canadian tycoon for 13 years for finance crimes

BEIJING

A Chinese-born Canadian tycoon who disappeared from Hong Kong in 2017 was sentenced Friday to 13 years in prison for a multibillion-dollar string of financial offenses and his company was fined $8.1 billion, a court announced. Xiao Jianhua was convicted of misusing billions of dollars of deposits from banks and insurers controlled by his Tomorrow Group and offering bribes to officials, the Shanghai No. 1 Intermediate People's Court said on its social media account. Xiao was fined $950,000 and his company was fined $8.1 billion, the court said.

The Canadian government said diplomats were blocked from attending his July 5 trial. Xiao was deemed to be a Chinese citizen, which meant he wasn't entitled to see Canadian diplomats under a consular treaty between the two governments, Foreign Ministry spokesperson Wang Wenbin said. That suggested Xiao might have entered the mainland using a Chinese travel document instead of his Canadian passport. Beijing has in other cases refused diplomats access to citizens of their countries who entered using Chinese identity documents. "China does not recognise Chinese citizens with dual nationality. Xiao Jianhua has Chinese nationality," Wang said. "He does not enjoy the right to consular protection of other countries." The Canadian Embassy in Beijing referred a request for comment to the Canadian government in Ottawa. Tomorrow Group has been linked to a series of anti-corruption prosecutions and seizures of financial companies by regulators. AP

'Don't cut N-plant from Kyiv grid'

Putin, Macron urge International Atomic Energy Agency to make independent inspection of plant

ODESSA

UN chief Antonio Guterres on Friday asked that the Russian-occupied Zaporizhzhia nuclear power station not be cut off from Ukraine's grid, following Ukrainian reports that Moscow was planning to do so.

"Obviously the electricity from Zaporizhzhia is Ukrainian electricity...This principle must be fully respected," the UN Secretary General said during a visit to Odessa.

The Zaporizhzhia nuclear power plant was seized by Russian troops in March and recent fighting around it has raised the spectre of a nuclear incident comparable to Chernobyl.

Kyiv accused Moscow on Friday of planning to cut electricity produced in Zaporizhzhia.

"There is information that Russian occupying troops are planning to shut off the reactors and switch them from the output lines of the Ukrainian energy system," Ukrainian energy operator Energoatom said.

The operator also warned Russia was limiting staff access to the site.

Last week, Energoatom said Russian forces were planning to re-route Zaporizhzhia's electricity to Crimea, annexed in 2014.

Both sides have this week accused the other of preparing "provocations" at the facility.

The plant—the biggest in Europe was targeted by several strikes in recent days, increasing fears of a nuclear disaster. Both Kyiv and Moscow have accused each other over the attacks.

Meanwhile, Russian President Vladimir Putin and his French counterpart Emmanuel Macron called for independent inspections at the Moscow-occupied Zaporizhzhia nuclear plant, the Kremlin said in a statement on Friday.

Putin stressed that the systematic shelling by the Ukrainian military of the territory of the Zaporizhzhia nuclear power plant creates the danger of a large-scale catastrophe that could lead to radiation contamination of vast territories.

According to the Kremlin, both leaders called for experts of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) to inspect the plant as soon as possible and assess the real situation on the ground.

"The Russian side confirmed its readiness to provide the Agency inspectors with the necessary assistance," the statement said.

In a separate statement, the French presidency said that Macron supported the dispatch of a mission of experts from the IAEA to the site under conditions agreed by Ukraine and the United Nations.

Putin and Macron will speak again "in the coming days on this subject after talks between the technical teams and before the deployment of the mission," as per the Elysee. AFP

Scholz grilled over handling of tax scam

BERLIN: German Chancellor Olaf Scholz appeared on Friday before a parliamentary panel in Hamburg to answer lawmakers' questions about his handling of a tax evasion scam when he was mayor of the city. Political opponents have called on Scholz to provide more information about meetings he had in 2016 and 2017 with private bank MM Warburg that faced demands to repay millions of euros in tax refunds it had wrongly claimed for share trades. Scholz has previously stated that he doesn't remember details of the meetings, but denies that he intervened to get Hamburg officials to drop their demand for Warburg to repay 47 million euros. Opposition leader Friedrich Merz said he didn't believe Scholz's memory lapses. AP

Gandhi statue outside NY temple vandalised in possible hate crime

NEW YORK

IN a possible hate crime, unidentified persons have destroyed a handcrafted statue of Mahatma Gandhi with a sledgehammer at a Hindu temple after vandalising it earlier this month, media reports said on Friday.

Surveillance video shows a person thrashing a statue of Gandhi with a sledgehammer, before smashing the head off and toppling it over, according to cbsnews.com. Minutes later, a group of six stomp on it and take turns hammering the statue before taking off, the report said.

"To see them coming after us like this is very painful," Lakhram Maharaj, the founder of Shri Tulsi Mandir, situated in South Richmond Hill was quoted as saying in the report. Maharaj discovered the Gandhi statue was reduced to rubble.

The word 'dog' was spray painted both in front of the temple and down the block, it said. The same Gandhi statue was vandalised two weeks ago, investigating officials said.

"When the Gandhi statue was vandalised, that really flew in the face of all of our beliefs and it's very disturbing for the community," Assembly member Jenifer Rajkumar said in the report. The New York Police Department is investigating both incidents as possible hate crimes, media reports said.

Maharaj says many in the community are now afraid to go to the temple. "I cannot show the congregation that I am worried because if I show them that I'm worrying and I'm not strong, how will they be strong?" the report quoted him as saying. The temple authorities cannot afford to replace the Gandhi statue, because it was handcrafted and cost about $4,000, the report said.

In February this year, an 8-foot-high Gandhi statue, located in Manhattan's Union Square, was defaced by unknown persons.

In December 2020, Khalistani-supporters had desecrated a Gandhi statue in Washington, DC in front of the Indian Embassy. The then White House Press Secretary, Kayleigh McEnany, had termed the incident as 'terrible'. PTI

Adani Power to acquire DB Power for ₹7,017 crore

Acquisition to help Adani expand power operations in Chhattisgarh

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

GAUTAM ADANI-led Adani Power on Friday said it will acquire power plant operator DB Power at an enterprise value of ₹7,017 crore.

The Chhattisgarh-based DB Power, which owns and operates a running 2x600 MW thermal power plant in Janjgir Champa district, will help Adani Group to expand its offerings and operations in the thermal power sector in the state.

The largest private power company in the country said the initial term of the MoU will be till completion of the acquisition on October 31, 2022, which could be extended by a mutual agreement. "Adani Power has agreed to acquire DB Power Limited ("DB Power"), which owns and operates a running 2x600 MW thermal power plant at District Janjgir Champa in Chhattisgarh," the company said in a BSE filing.

DB Power, which was incorporated on October 12, 2006, is engaged in the business of establishing, operating and maintaining a thermal power generating station in Chhattisgarh. The turnover of the company during last three financial years is ₹3,488 crore (for FY 2021-22); ₹2,930 crore (for FY 2020-21) and ₹3,126 crore (for FY 2019-20), respectively. Diligent Power Private Limited (DPPL) is the holding company of DB Power. Adani Power will acquire 100% of the total issued, subscribed and paid-up equity share and preference share capital of DPPL."The proposed transaction is subject to receiving of approval from the Competition Commission of India and any other approvals as may be identified following the due diligence exercise to be conducted with respect to DPPL and DB Power," said the company. DB Power has long- and medium-term power purchase agreements for 923.5 MW of its capacity, backed by fuel supply agreements with Coal India and has been operating its facilities profitably, it added.

JAPAN

INFLATION HOLDS ABOVE BOJ TARGET

JAPAN'S core consumer inflation accelerated in July to its fastest in seven-and-a-half years, driven by fuel and raw material prices and adding to the costs of living for households yet to see significant wage gains. In a sign of broadening price pressure, the so-called "core-core" index that strips away not just the impact of volatile fresh food but energy costs, also rose in July at the fastest annual pace in more than six years. The core CPI, which excludes fresh food prices, rose 2.4 per cent in July from a year earlier, matching a median market forecast, government data showed on Friday. That followed a 2.2 per cent gain in June and marked the fourth straight month core consumer inflation breached the Bank of Japan's 2 per cent target. It was also the fastest pace since December 2014, excluding sales tax hike effects. While the core index is still the BOJ's key price gauge, the central bank has recently placed more emphasis on the core-core index to gauge how much of the inflationary pressure is coming from domestic demand, rather than one-off factors like energy costs.

INDONESIA

BI TO WAIT ONE MORE MONTH TO PULL RATES LEVER

Bank Indonesia (BI) is expected to leave its policy rate unchanged at record lows on Tuesday, a small majority of economists estimate in a Reuters poll. BI is one of a few major Asian central banks that have not lifted interest rates from pandemic-era levels despite many policymakers around the world raising them to battle high inflation. While growth in Southeast Asia's largest economy has stayed strong there are signs of price pressures heating up. Calls for a rate hike gathered pace after last quarter's growth showed the economy had outperformed expectations. However, Dody Budi Waluyo, the central bank's deputy governor told Reuters BI would only raise rates when it sees a persistent rise in core inflation. While headline inflation rose to a seven-year high of 4.94% in July, core inflation was 2.86% and within the BI's 2% to 4% target range.

PAKISTAN

CENTRAL BANK VETERAN JAMEEL AHMAD NEW GUV

Pakistan named Jameel Ahmad, a deputy governor of the State Bank of Pakistan (SBP), as the central bank's new governor on Friday, appointing him for a five-year term. The Pakistani central bank had been without a full-time governor since May and one of Ahmad's first tasks will be to chair a monetary policy meeting to consider its policy rate. Ahmad's career spans more than 30 years in various positions at the State Bank of Pakistan and the Saudi Central Bank, the country's central bank said in a profile on its website. Prior to his appointment as deputy governor of the Pakistani central bank in 2018, he was executive director of its Banking Supervision and Financial Stability Group. As a deputy SBP governor, Ahmad played an instrumental role in the digitisation of banking and payments as well in the enabling of financial technology services, the bank said.

Shareholders question Paytm losses, CEO's pay

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

PAYTM'S first annual general meeting (AGM) after becoming a publicly listed company was a conspicuous affair.

The company till late Friday did not disclose the results of the AGM vote amid opposition by three proxy advisory firms to founder Vijay Shekhar Sharma's reappointment as the chief executive officer for another five years and his hefty remuneration.

While some shareholders made remarks such as Har Ghar Tiranga Har Ghar Paytm (every house has the Indian flag and every house has Paytm) and that Sharma's heart is 'clear', there were many who expressed their displeasure on Paytm's dismal performance on the stock market and company's inability to turn profitable. "The management takes home big salaries. How can a company still run on losses even as every home uses Paytm? It's very unfortunate that the share prices have fallen by more than half," said a shareholder. Proxy advisory firm - Institutional Investor Advisory Services (IIAS)- which had advised shareholders to oppose Sharma's reappointment along with his remuneration has estimated Sharma's FY23 remuneration at around ₹796 crore, which comprises 21 million stock options.

Another shareholder said that everyone who purchased shares during the initial public offering is cursing the management and that he doesn't think that the fintech firm can achieve profitability even in the financial year 2024.

On questions as to when the company would turn profitable and a recovery in share prices, Sharma said while profitability plays an important role in share prices there are other sentiments that drive share prices as well.

"We are ensuring that the company is profitable. In due course the stock price will take care of itself," said Sharma, whose company last year launched the mega ₹18,300 crore IPO at a hefty valuation of nearly ₹1.40 lakh crore. Its stock is down 64% from the IPO offer price of ₹2,150 apiece and its consolidated loss widened to ₹644.4 crore in Q1FY23 against a net loss of ₹380.2 crore in the year ago quarter.

LIC campaigns to revive the lapsed policies

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

The Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC), country's largest insurance company, has launched a special campaign for its customers to revive their individual lapsed policies, effective from August 17 to October 21, 2022.

Under this campaign, except ULIP (Unit Linked Insurance Plan) policies, all policies can be revived within five years from the date of the first unpaid premium.

In case of policies with a total receivable premium of up to ₹1 lakh, the maximum concession being allowed is ₹2,500, and from ₹1,00,001 to ₹3,00,000, there is a total concession of 25% with the maximum concession being ₹3,000, and from ₹3,00,001 and above, there is a total concession of 30%, with the maximum concession being ₹3,500. There is a 100% waiver of late fee for micro insurance policies to facilitate affordable restoration of risk cover, and there are no concessions in medical requirements, LIC said.

Market snaps winning streak on weak global cues, profit booking

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

The Indian equity market snapped its eight session winning streak on Friday on account of profit-booking at elevated level and weak global cues.

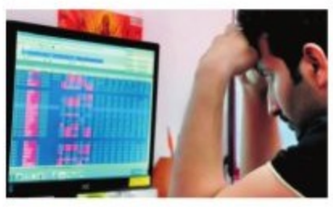
The 30-share index Sensex fell 652 pts to close below 60,000 level at 59,646 points and Nifty closed 198 points lower at 17,758. After a flat start, the benchmark indices plunged sharply in the first half and remained range bound thereafter. In line with the benchmarks, mostly sectoral indices ended lower and had a similar trend on the broader front as well.

Among stocks, IndusInd Bank, Bajaj twins, Tata Steel and State Bank of India witnessed sharp decline, falling up to 3.82% on Friday.

"The decline in the index engulfed the gains of the last three sessions and we may see further profit taking ahead. And, it would be healthy after the recent surge. Moreover, participants should maintain caution and prefer defensive i.e. FMCG, pharma over others until the trend resumes," said Ajit Mishra, VP - Research, Religare Broking.

Apurva Sheth, Head of Market Perspectives, Samco Securities, said that the Nifty has developed a bearish engulfing candlestick pattern, raising the possibility of a slight decrease due to profit taking. The Nifty's positional view remains bullish, and traders are encouraged to use the buy-on-dips strategy. On the downside, the 17, 200 zone is now acting as immediate support, added Sheth.

The recent rally of the dollar index and FIIs turning net sellers has surprised bulls. Foreign institutional investors (FIIs), who have been buying aggressively in the Indian stock market since late July, turned net sellers on Thursday as they sold shares worth ₹1,706 crore, as per NSE data. However, on Friday they turned net buyers and purchased shares worth Rs 1,110 crore. The rupee, meanwhile, depreciated 20 paise to close at 79.84 (provisional) against the US dollar on Friday as US Federal Reserve hinted at rate hikes in the coming future. The dollar index, which gauges its strength against a basket of six currencies, rose 0.18% to 107.67.



Inflation above RBI target worries MPC members

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE minutes of the Monetary Policy Committee meeting show members of the committee remain cautious of the underlying inflationary pressure despite the recent moderation.

Members are worried about inflation being above the RBI's tolerance level of 6%, and any slack in policy response might raise questions on the credibility of RBI's inflation targeting mandate. The MPC at its meeting from August 3 to 5 had decided to raise the benchmark lending rate by 50 bps to 5.40%.

Ashima Goyal in her statement said that inflation is still above the tolerance band, and shows signs of being so for the first three quarters of 2022-23. This can be destabilizing for inflation expectations.

While recommending a 50 basis point increase in repo rate, Goyal batted for a strong policy response to ensure its inflation commitments are important for the credibility of an inflation targeting regime.

She said that despite recent moderation in inflation, rise in GST tax rates, electricity tariffs, energy costs and rupee depreciation, although the rupee is showing signs of mean reversion towards real equilibrium values, are short-term risks for inflation.

Dr Jayant Varma was of the opinion that inflation is at unacceptably high levels, and the projected trajectory is also above target during the entire forecast horizon.

Reserve Bank Governor Shaktikanta Das said the policy actions of the central bank "would continue to be calibrated, measured and nimble depending upon the unfolding dynamics of inflation and economic activity." Das, according to the minutes of the MPC meeting released on Friday, said retail inflation was "unacceptably and uncomfortably" high, as he along with other members proposed a 50 bps hike in repo rate.

Akasa to operate 150-plus weekly flights by Sep

New Delhi: Akasa Air, which commenced its maiden service on August 7, expects to operate more than 150 weekly flights by the end of September. After taking off on the Mumbai-Ahmedabad and Bengaluru-Kochi routes, the country's newest airline, on Friday inaugurated its first flights on the Bengaluru-Mumbai route enabling the airline to offer twice-daily flights in each direction on the Bengaluru-Mumbai route. The airline will have additional daily flights in the Bengaluru-Mumbai route from August 30, 2022, and another from September 19, 2022. The airline has also added a new route between Bengaluru and Chennai, which will commence from September 10, 2022. ENS

'IT sector hirings may continue to witness 25-35% growth in FY23'

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE IT industry witnessed historic hiring in FY22 due to positive sentiment in the sector. Owing to the strong project pipeline, hiring will continue to witness 25-35% growth even this fiscal, though slightly lower than last year, said Sachin Alug, CEO of NLB Services, an international IT workforce solution provider.

"Most of the contracts are multiyear contracts. Further, the thrust on digital transformation is still strong. Though discretionary spends may come down, companies will continue to focus on retaining tech talent," Alug said.

In an interaction with TNIE, Alug said the lead wage hike pressure in the US and Europe is impacting the revenues. "As India is still a cost-effective market, companies will continue to invest in India and move their jobs to India," he said.

"India is a unique talent market, we have resources who are well-versed in legacy skills as well as new age technologies. Be it data analytics, cyber security or DevOps, we have the largest pool of resources. This abundance of resources also gives us an advantageous position," he added. In its IT sector outlook, Kotak Securities recently said that technology spending is viewed as an investment for future growth and will not be cut drastically.

"However, a few discretionary areas such as consulting may be impacted. On the other hand, there is considerable scope to cut down on workforce in various operations and use automation and tech-driven solutions to yield cost savings. Vendor consolidation and lower-cost outsourcing can throw opportunities for Indian IT firms," it added. When asked about attrition, Alug said it will be one of the core areas that firms will be focusing on this year. "Companies have earmarked close to 40% of their HR budget towards up-skilling initiatives."

LEVY ON OIL

Windfall tax on transport fuel to hit profits of oil cos

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

WINDFALL profit tax levied by the government on the transport fuel is likely to impact the profit of the industry by about ₹31,000 crore (₹310 billion) in financial year 222-23, according to the industry analysts.

They said the tax on local oil producers has been cut on expected lines but increasing the levy on jet fuel and diesel exports was a surprise as local markets are reasonably well-supplied.

"The windfall tax, though reduced, remains negative for the upstream companies and would impact the EBITDA (earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization) of the industry by about ₹310 billion in FY2023. For the downstream industry, the changes in the special additional excise duty would impact the overall GRMs (gross refining margins) of exporters by up to $1.5/barrel, depending on their proportion of exports and the EBITDA impact on the industry is expected to be ₹160 billion for FY2023," said Prashant Vasisht, vice-president and co-head of ICRA Limited.

As the oil price in the international market cooled down, India in its third fortnightly review decided to hike the excise duty on export of diesel by ₹2 to ₹7 per litre and hiked by ₹2 from nil on export of jet fuel. However, the finance ministry cut cess on domestically produced crude to ₹13,000 from ₹17,750.

"India's fortnightly revision in windfall tax for oil producers was in line with our expectations. The increase in jet fuel and diesel export tax, which reflects the recent rise in refining margins, surprised us as local markets are reasonably well supplied," said Morgan Stanley in its report. In July, the government in a bid to regulate fuel prices in the domestic market raised excise duty by ₹6 per litre on aviation turbine fuel (ATF), ₹6 per litre on petrol and ₹13 per litre on diesel.

Fundamentum, backed by Infosys co-founder Nilekani, raises $227 mn

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

INFOSYS co-founder Nandan Nilekani's venture capital firm Fundamentum Partnership plans to lead or co-lead a $25-40 million round by investing in four-five start-ups every year.

The firm on Friday announced it has raised $227 million for its second fund that would be invested in early growth stage Indian start-ups.

It will fund enterprises that have attained product-market fit and will focus on tech-driven enterprises in the consumer internet and enterprise software space in India.

The company will back India-based entrepreneurs who are set to move from the start-up phase to the scale up phase.

Nilekani, co-founder and general partner at Fundamentum, said, "Digital acceleration, brought on by the pandemic, has dramatically increased technology spending across the world. India has all the ingredients in place – capital, entrepreneurs, stories of success and liquidity."

He added, "In this decade we will see entrepreneurs making a material impact on the country at scale as the digital intensity of society increases, and we are in the early stages of that journey."

Fundamentum's first fund was deployed in early growth stage start-ups, including Pharmeasy and Spinny that have turned unicorns. Post the fund's initial investment, Fundamentum's portfolio companies have collectively raised over $1 billion in follow-on rounds.

Sanjeev Aggarwal, co-founder and general partner, said that the second fund is significantly oversubscribed.

Youngsters opting for gig works due to flexibility, extra income

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

YOUNGSTERS are increasingly dropping traditional ways of working and are opting for or showing openness to the gig way of working because of flexibility, extra income and portfolio development, among others.

The participation of youth in the gig economy has increased 8-fold between 2019 and 2022, according to gig discovery platform Taskmo. Teenagers, between the age group of 16 to 18, have shown a massive 750% growth in terms of willingness to opt for gig jobs on the platform. The company, which has over 7,50,000 gig workers registered, says close to 40% of the gig workers on the platform are youth between the age group of 16 and 23. Between the years 2021 and 2022, youth's participation towards gigs hit a whopping 159% growth, according to its Co-founder Naveen Ram.

It said there could be several reasons such as flexibility of job timings, extra income, lesser barrier to entry, portfolio development, and a no-string-attached relationship with their jobs that helps them to consider several career options before having to settle down on one.

Taskmo also noted that a majority of the youth who are opting for gig job roles belong to Tier-1 cities like Bengaluru, Delhi, Mumbai, Hyderabad, and Chennai. "Considering the fact that Bengaluru is also a startup hub, opportunities for blue-collar and white collar gig roles are much higher."

Prashant Janadri, co-founder, Taskmo said, as the concept of gig is finding wide acceptance, there is a surge in participation of youth who preferto take up gig job roles. "The career paths of young professionals today look nothing like that of the 2000s. Youngsters are more open to exploring varied opportunities," he said.

Gig marketplace Awign has also seen a 60% jump in participation from the 18-25 age group between FY21 & FY22, said its co-founder & CEO Annanya Sarthak.

Sriram named B'desh technical consultant

Bangladesh has appointed former India all-rounder Sridharan Sriram as a technical consultant for the national team till the T20 World Cup in Australia later this year. "We had Sriram shortlisted and he is to come here on 21st (August). He is coming as a technical consultant," said Bangladesh Cricket Board (BCB) president Nazmul Hassan.

WAITING GAME CONTINUES

Until late Friday, Gokulam Kerala was not part of plans as per AFC website

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

THE sports ministry has reached out to both the world football governing body (FIFA) and the Asian Football Confederation (AFC) to allow Gokulam Kerala FC, currently in Tashkent, to take part in the AFC Women's Club Championship, set to begin on August 20.

After landing in Tashkent, their fate has been surrounded by uncertainty. Due to the indefinite suspension imposed by FIFA on the All India Football Federation (AIFF), they are not eligible to take part in the competition. In fact, there were talks that they could be sent back home immediately. Until late on Friday, Gokulam's name did not feature in the group that they were supposed to be part of. Only Ban Khatoon FC (Iran) and Sogdiana-W (Uzbekistan), the other two teams, are part of the West group.

Even going by the fixture, Gokulam's fate seems to be sealed as the two remaining teams are set to play their second match on the day (August 23) the Indian club was supposed to play Sogdiana-W at Qarshi, a one-hour flight from Tashkent. Despite all the uncertainty, the players seemed to have turned their focus on the field, with the club's official Twitter handle posting pictures of players training on Friday. It remains to be seen if sports ministry's request and players' patience will bear fruit.

After learning about their fate, the sports ministry had earlier reached out to AFC and the team were handed 48 hours to stay (under the local organiser's/AFC's care). The club officials, on their part, were hoping for a miracle, and willing to do whatever they could to keep the continental dreams alive.

On Friday, the sports ministry, in an email to both FIFA and AFC, explained Gokulam's side of the story, telling that the club had already landed in the host country before the suspension. Since the 48-hour timeframe was supposed to end soon, the ministry also wanted to ensure that the 31-member squad is taken care of. "It has requested FIFA and AFC to therefore consider allowing the team to play in the AFC Women's Club Championship (West region) in the interest of the young players. Meanwhile, the ministry has also reached out to the Indian embassy in Uzbekistan to extend assistance to the team in all possible ways. The ministry is also in constant touch with Gokulam team's management," the sports ministry release stated.

ATK Mohun Bagan is another club who could miss out from continental action due to the suspension of AIFF. The Kolkata club is scheduled to be part of the AFC Cup 2022 (Inter-Zone semifinals) on September 7 in Bahrain.

With just 24 hours ahead of the opening match of West group, the fixture list did not feature the Indian club | GK FC

AIFF elections: Bhutia, others file nomination

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

THE All India Football Federation (AIFF) election is turning out to be quite interesting. Nominations were finally filed on the last day on Friday. There are former players with political affiliations and leanings and there are sports administrators and officials in fray too. Among the names doing the rounds are former India captain Bhaichung Bhutia, former goalkeeper Kalyan Chaubey, a BJP leader in West Bengal, administrator Shaji Prabhakaran, Ajit Banerjee from Indian Football Association and Eugeneson Lyngdoh, an MLA with the United Democratic Party, Meghalaya.

According to reports from Karnataka State Football Association, NA Haris, who happens to be a local Congress MLA, too filed his nominations. Then there is late Jaswant Singh's son Manavendra Singh from Rajasthan too.

Bhutia, whose name was proposed and seconded by players, could have been a strong candidate but the list suggests things will not be easy. Take for instance, Chaubey. A BJP leader from Bengal who filed nomination from Gujarat State Football Association and was seconded by Arunachal Pradesh seem to have an edge.

Also the Supreme Court will be hearing a case pertaining to FIFA suspension of AIFF over third-party interference because of the appointment of Committee of Administrators (CoA) on Monday. Bhutia is on the electoral college as one of the 36 eminent players, a clause opposed by FIFA because it constitutes 50 per cent of the electoral college. Despite objections, the CoA went ahead with the contentious clause.

As of now, the current electoral college has 33 state units and it is understood that after the FIFA suspension, there were indications that the election with be conducted with the state units.

According to a CoA statement: "In the discussions held among the FIFA-AFC, AIFF, CoA, and the sports ministry in the past few days, it was suggested that the present elections of the AIFF Executive Committee may be conducted with the Electoral College consisting of 36 state representatives."

The FIFA had also mentioned in its letter that the CoA is considered as 'third party intervention'. It needs to be seen what SC would say on Monday, the date of next hearing. For India, hosting the U-17 women's World Cup is a priority and it can be held only when AIFF gets its recognition back. Since the SC has not said anything on the election on Wednesday, the process that was laid down on August 3 continues.

Smooth sailing

India hardly broke any sweat in the first match and should realistically have no trouble in wrapping up the series on Saturday. The batting unit – Shikhar Dhawan and Shubman Gill put up a clinical show – and even the bowling unit executed its plan to the T. Unless there are any injury concerns, India look set to retain the same XI.

MAJOR TEST

For a side that played admiringly well against Bangladesh, India has been a stern test. In moving conditions, the batting unit simply had no answers to the challenge that was posed by the Indian attack. So for Zimbabwe to stay in the contest, they need the likes of Innocent Kaia, Sean Williams, Sikandar Raza to come good.

TOSS FACTOR

There was a tinge of grass in the first match which the Indian seamers – Deepak Chahar and Mohammed Siraj – used to good effect in the powerplay. The conditions are expected to be the same and in case Zimbabwe get a chance to bowl first, it will give their seamers an opportunity to test the Indian batters.

Ahlawat moves to fifth, Bhullar at 11th in Korea

JEJU (SOUTH KOREA): Indian golfer Veer Ahlawat shot a round full of birdies to move to top 10 at the halfway stage at International Series Korea on Friday. Ahlawat added 5-under 66 with eight birdies against three bogeys, to first round 70. He is currently 6-under and tied-fifth and four shots behind co-leaders Bio Kim (63) and Taehook Ok (64) of Korea. Gaganjeet Bhullar, on the other hand, who won the Mandiri Indonesia Open three weeks ago, also closed the round in style with an approach from 179 yards for an eagle on the Par-4 ninth, his closing hole of the day.

Knight to miss India series due to hip surgery

LONDON: England skipper Heather Knight will miss the home series against India next month as she has undergone a hip surgery and is likely to remain out of action till the end of the year. Knight, who is missing out on the ongoing season of The Hundred, is also likely to be ruled out of the Women's Big Bash to be played in October. "Surgery (tick) I've had a little clean out of my hip to get me back and running soon," Knight wrote on her Twitter on Friday alongside a picture of her in the hospital. The 31-year-old had injured herself during the first T20I against South Africa in July.

Kiran gets maiden India call-up

AGENCIES @ Mumbai

VETERAN pace spearhead Jhulan Goswami made a comeback in the Indian women's ODI squad for the tour of England which also saw hard-hitting Women's T20 Challenge sensation Kiran Navgire receiving a maiden call-up in the shortest format.

India will be in England on a two-week white-ball tour that comprises six white-ball games — three WT20Is and three WODIs. Goswami, who will be 40 in three months time, had last played for India at the ODI World Cup in New Zealand in March against Bangladesh.

While her contemporary Mithali Raj had retired, the veteran seamer was nursing an injury and wasn't picked for the Sri Lanka tour.

ODI squad: Harmanpreet Kaur (Captain), Smriti Mandhana (Vice-Captain), Shafali Verma, Sabbineni Meghana, Deepti Sharma, Taniyaa Sapna Bhatia (WK), Yastika Bhatia (WK), Pooja Vastrakar, Sneh Rana, Renuka Thakur, Meghna Singh, Rajeshwari Gayakwad, Harleen Deol, Dayalan Hemalatha, Simran Dil Bahadur, Jhulan Goswami, Jemimah Rodrigues. T20I squad: Harmanpreet Kaur (Captain), Smriti Mandhana (Vice-captain), Shafali Verma, Deepti Sharma, Pooja Vastrakar, Jemimah Rodrigues, Sneh Rana, Renuka Thakur, Meghna Singh, Radha Yadav, Sabbineni Meghana, Taniyaa Sapna Bhatia (WK), Rajeshwari Gayakwad, Dayalan Hemalatha, Simran Dil Bahadur, Richa Ghosh (WK), K.P. Praggu makes it four wins in a row

AGENCIES @ Miami

INDIAN prodigy R Praggnanandhaa handed world No.6 Levon Aronian a 3-1 thrashing in the fourth round to notch up his fourth consecutive win in the FTX Crypto Cup, the American finale of Champions Chess Tour, on Friday.

The 17-year old Indian is in joint lead with 12 match points along with world No.1 Magnus Carlsen, who defeated Quang Liem Le of China 3-1.

Praggnanandhaa won the third game with white pieces after the first two in the four-game match ended in a stalemate. First, he won with white pieces to take a 2-1 lead after game three and stormed to victory in 44 moves in the fourth to seal an emphatic win over the acclaimed American star.

Having started his campaign with victory over Alireza Firouzja, the Indian GM has subsequently beaten Anish Giri and Hans Nieman.Three more rounds remain to be played in the eight-player tournament.

New way to eradicate 'forever chemicals'

Low temperatures and common reagents can destroy the compound

STUDY

WASHINGTON: "Forever chemicals" used in daily items like nonstick pans have long been linked to serious health issues—a result of their toxicity and extreme resistance to being broken down as waste products.

Chemists in the United States and China on Thursday said they had finally found a breakthrough method to degrade these polluting compounds, referred to as PFAS, using relatively low temperatures and common reagents.

Their results were published in the journal Science, potentially offering a solution to a longstanding source of harm to the environment, livestock and humans.

"It really is why I do science—so that I can have a positive impact on the world," senior author William Dichtel of Northwestern University told reporters during a news conference. PFAS, or per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances, were first developed in the 1940s and are now found in a variety of products, including nonstick pans, water-resistant textiles and fire suppression foams.

Over time, the pollutants have accumulated in the environment, entering the air, soil, groundwater and lakes and rivers as a result of industrial processes and from leaching through landfills.

A study published last week by Stockholm University scientists found rainwater everywhere on the planet is unsafe to drink because of PFAS contamination. Chronic exposure to even low levels has been linked to liver damage, high cholesterol, reduced immune responses, low birth weights and several kinds of cancer.

File photo of a worker cooking patties in a pan in the Gulf emirate of Sharjah

Methods to degrade PFAS

At one end of the molecule, there is a group of charged oxygen atoms which can be targeted using a common solvent and reagent at mild temperatures of 80-120º Celsius, decapitating the head group and leaving behind a reactive tail. "Once that happens, that provides access to previously unrecognised pathways that cause the entire molecule to fall apart in a cascade of complex reactions," said Dichtel, A second part of the study involved using powerful computational methods to map out the quantum mechanics behind the chemical reactions the team performed to destroy the molecules.

Although PFAS chemicals can be filtered out of water, there are few good solutions for how to dispose of them once they have been removed.

Current methods to destroy PFAS require harsh treatments, such as incineration at extremely high temperatures or irradiating them with ultrasonic waves. And incineration isn't always foolproof, with one New York plant found to still be releasing some of the compounds into the air through smoke.

PFAS' indestructability comes from their carbon-flouride bonds, one of the strongest types of bonds in organic chemistry. Fluorine is the most electronegative element and wants to gain electrons, while carbon is keen to share them.

PFAS molecules contain long chains of these bonds, but the research team was able to identify a glaring weakness common to a certain class of PFAS.

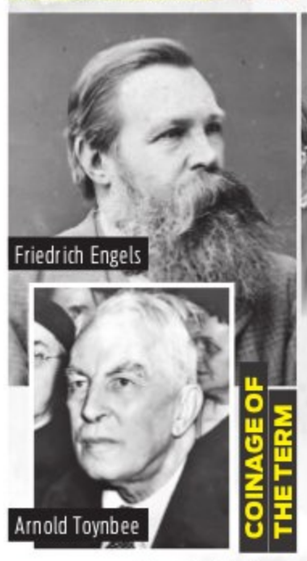
The Industrial Revolution

Britain's industrial revolution refers to the massive transformation of the industry which took place between the 1780s and 1850s. The industrial revolution was a catalyst event that changed the very structure of Great Britain. Though this era saw a lot of inventions it came at a very heavy price as children were employed in factories and women and men were made to work in dreadful conditions

The Iron Bridge, Shropshire, England, the world's first bridge constructed of iron opened in 1781

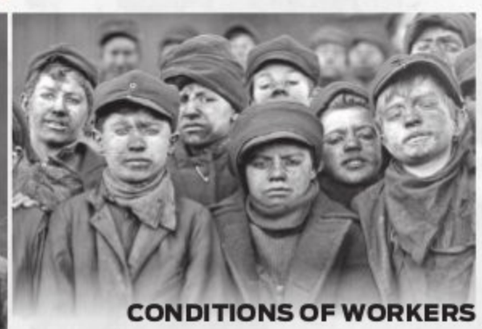


Friedrich Engels

Arnold Toynbee

COINAGE OF THE TERM

Though, the term 'Industrial revolution' was first used by French historian Georges Michelet and co-author of The Communist Manifesto, Friedrich Engels in England, it was first used by economist Arnold Toynbee



CONDITIONS OF WORKERS

During this period, the conditions of the workers deteriorated. They used to work for long hours under extremely harsh conditions. Many of the workers died due to exhaustion. Women and children were preferred to be employed over men since industrialists knew they would not complain about the low wage and the poor working conditions

THE COTTON INDUSTRY

During this time, the cotton industry also received a huge boost. The spinning and weaving of cloth was a slow and labourious process. It would take hours to spin raw cotton into yarn. The weavers used to wait for the yarn the entire day so they could make it into cloth. However, a series of inventions facilitated in speeding this process

THE BLAST FURNACE

The Darbys of Shropshire revolutionised the iron industry. They invented a blast furnace that used coke derived from coal to extract the iron from iron ore. By replacing charcoal with coke, the melted iron made finer castings

INVENTIONS IN IRON INDUSTRY

There was ample coal and iron ore present in London. However, since iron is taken out of iron ore in a process called smelting there was a scarcity of usable iron. Earlier, during the process of smelting, charcoal was used to take out iron from iron ore. However, using charcoal presented a host of problems

FLYING SHUTTLE LOOM

This product made it possible for weavers to produce broad fabrics in a short span of time. It was designed by John Kay invented by James Hargreaves in 1765. This machine made it possible for an individual to spin raw cotton into yarn at a faster rate

SPINNING JENNY

RIPPLE EFFECTS OF THE AGRICULTURAL REVOLUTION

During the late 18th century, rich landlords started to buy lands of small farmers. This meant many farmers were left jobless. Thus, many of them started shifting to the towns in search of work

INVENTING THE STEAM ENGINE

One of the most important inventions of this era was the steam engine made by James Watt in 1769. Though earlier models of this product existed, Watts refined them and displayed his own model to the world. This product replaced muscle power and animal power and instead used steam to perform mechanical work

WHO recommends 2 Ebola treatments

HEALTH

GENEVA: The World Health Organization said Friday that two existing treatments dramatically reduced deaths from Ebola and should be given to people of all ages suffering from the often-fatal haemorrhagic disease.

Publishing its first-ever guidelines on which therapeutics to use against Ebola, the UN health agency strongly recommended using two monoclonal antibodies, mAb114, also known as Ansuvimab or Ebanga, and REGN-EB3, or Inmazeb.

Studies had showed that the two treatments significantly "reduced mortality," Janet Diaz, lead of the clinical management unit in the WHO's Health Emergencies programme, told reporters in Geneva.

Depending on the standard of care, she said they could save between 230 and 400 lives for every 1,000 people infected.

In its guidelines, the WHO recommended against using other therapeutics that have been tested for Ebola, including monoclonal antibody ZMapp and antiviral drug remdesivir.

Ebola is an often-fatal viral haemorrhagic fever that was first identified in central Africa in 1976.

The disease was named after a river in the Democratic Republic of Congo, then known as Zaire. The worst epidemic in West Africa between 2013 and 2016 killed more than 11,300 people. The DRC has had more than a dozen epidemics, the deadliest killing 2,280 people in 2020.

Case fatality rates for the disease, which spreads through bodily fluids and causes high fever, vomiting and bleeding, can be as high as 80-90% depending on how quickly it is detected and treated. The WHO said mAb114 and REGN-EB3 should be given swiftly to anyone who contracts the virus.

WHO said the two had "demonstrated clear benefits" and could be used for everyone infected by Ebola, including older people, pregnant and breastfeeding women and children.

Industry disrupted as Yangtze runs dry

CLIMATE

CHONGQING: Ships crept down the middle of the Yangtze on Friday after China's driest summer in six decades left one of the mightiest rivers barely half its normal width and set off a scramble to contain the damage to a weak economy in a politically sensitive year.

Factories in Sichuan province and the adjacent metropolis of Chongqing in the southwest were ordered to shut down after reservoirs that supply hydropower fell to half their normal levels and demand for air conditioning surged in scorching temperatures.

River ferries in Chongqing that usually are packed with sightseers were empty and tied to piers beside mudflats that stretched as much as 50 meters from the normal shoreline to the depleted river's edge.

Smaller ships sailed down the middle of the Yangtze, one of China's biggest trade channels, but no large cargo ships could be seen.

A DIFFICULT CHALLENGE

Greenland hesitantly welcomes tourists as icebergs melt

CLIMATE

ILULISSAT: As tourists flock to Greenland to take in its breathtaking icebergs and natural beauty, authorities are mulling ways to control crowds to protect the fragile environment, already threatened by global warming.

"It's a dream destination," said Yves Gleyze, a veteran off-the-beaten-track French tourist in his 60s as he arrived at the airport in Ilulissat.

Visitors to the third-biggest town in the Danish autonomous territory are met by a rugged, austere landscape of grey rock and sparse vegetation. But mesmerising views of massive icebergs come into view after just a short drive.

Breaking off from the Ilulissat glacier in the neighbouring fjord, the majestic blocks of ice drift slowly by in Disko Bay, the occasional whale making an appearance. The postcard views attracted had 50,000 tourists in 2021, more than 10 times the town's population. More than half make only a short pit stop during an Arctic cruise.

Numbers are expected to swell with the opening of an international airport in the next two years, a welcome boost to the island's revenues but also a challenge, given the delicate—and melting—ecosystem.

In the past 40 years, the Arctic has warmed nearly four times faster than the rest of the planet, according to a recent scientific study.

"We can see changes every day caused by climate change: the icebergs are getting smaller, the glacier is retreating," said mayor Palle Jeremiassen.

Thawing permafrost is also threatening the stability of some buildings and infrastructure. With the immaculate landscape so coveted by tourists changing, officials are determined to protect it without turning away tourists.

"We want to control the arrival of tourist ships here," said Jeremiassen, noting the risks posed by the highly-polluting vessels.

In order to protect the environment and community, Ilulissat should only welcome "one ship max per day, max one thousand tourists per ship," he said. Recently, three cruise ships arrived on the same day, spewing out 6,000 visitors.

Jeremiassen said the town's infrastructure is not designed to accommodate such numbers, nor is it able to ensure that tourists respect protected areas, notably in the fjord.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Wildfire makes a comeback

DISASTER

A major wildfire in eastern Spain that has destroyed vast swathes of land flared up again Friday despite heavy rainfall, threatening to spread to a nearby natural park, officials said. So far this year, Spain has suffered nearly 400 wildfires following punishing heatwaves and long dry spells that have devastated more than 283,000 hectares of land, more than three times the total area destroyed in 2021. Over the past week, hundreds of firefighters have been battling two major wildfires raging out of control in Valencia, with a bout of heavy rainfall offered some respite, almost totally extinguishing the flames. Although it put an end to the Vall d'Ebo fire near Benidorm, the Bejis blaze flared up again.

UK returns Indian artefacts

HISTORY

Glasgow held a ceremony on Friday to officially repatriate seven Indian cultural artefacts looted during British colonial rule, calling it a first for a UK museum service. Dignitaries from the High Commission of India joined members of Glasgow Life, the charity that manages the Scottish city's museum collections, at the transfer of ownership ceremony, following more than 18 months of talks. Six of the items were stolen from northern India in the 1800s, and a seventh was illegally purchased after being stolen from its original owners. All seven objects were looted from sacred places such as temples and shrines and given as gifts to the Scottish city's museum collections.

Rare amoeba likely cause of deaths

INFECTIONS

A child likely died from a rare infection caused by a brain-eating amoeba after swimming in an eastern Nebraska river, health officials said, making it the second such probable death in the Midwest this summer and raising the question of whether climate change is playing a role. The Douglas County Department of Health based in Omaha, Nebraska, reported Wednesday that doctors believe the child died of primary amebic meningoencephalitis, a usually fatal infection caused by the naegleria fowleri amoeba. Health officials believe the child came into contact with the amoeba on Sunday while swimming in the Elkhorn River just west of Omaha. Officials have not released the child's identity. Last month, a Missouri resident died of the same infection likely caused by the amoeba at Lake of Three Fires in southwestern Iowa.

A SUITABLE BOY

Just as the new season of Indian Matchmaking is the talk of the town, recent statistics from matrimonial sites show men who work in startups are preferred by women as their life partners which was not the case previously

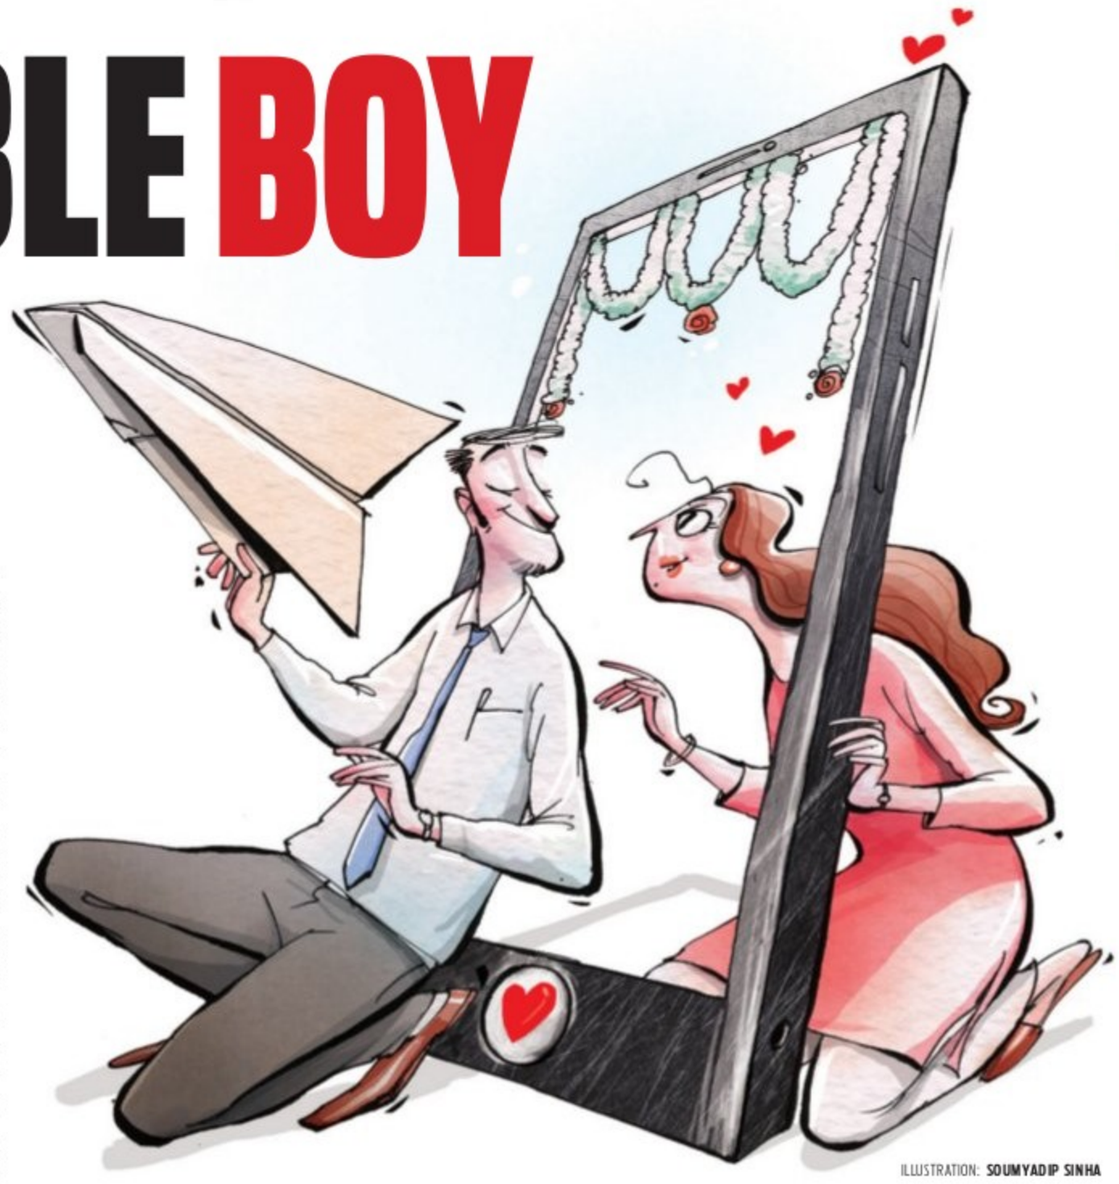

ILLUSTRATION: SOUMYADIP SINHA

The acceptance from a life partner to marry someone working odd hours and the factor of stability has come with time. Earlier, there was not much awareness about the idea of starting something from an idea and working towards it

Pratik Gauri, co-founder of 5ire

NAMRATA SINDWANI

FINDING the perfect match with the right qualities can be quite a daunting task. Just as we've witnessed on the latest season of Indian Matchmaking which released recently, where participants had a long checklist. "Probably just cute, and a nice smile," said one. "She should be 5' 8'', and would have to get along with my dog," said another. "If the guy has a tattoo, that's a huge plus. If someone has enough hair to do a man-bun, great!" said yet another.

And now, there seems to be yet another criterion. Statistics from matrimonial sites reveal that in recent years, men who are working in startups are preferred by women as their life partners. It seems cupid is invested in these Unicorn high-flyers. Those days are gone when NRIs were much sought-after. Now it's time to be vocal for locals.

Sindhu Biswal, head of growth, BetterHalf, explains that the rejection rates were high for people working in startups around three years ago but it has now changed. On matrimonial platforms, a majority of users are working in startups and occupy some of the top positions. "Success rate is very high for men in startups, which was not the case before," he says.

The reason could be that the disparity in salaries of those in startups and other organisations have been reduced. Startup sharks are earning much higher than their MNC counterparts, due to which parents have also begun accepting them, Biswal points out.

Adhish Hemendra Zaveri from Shaadi.com echoes Biswal, saying, "In the last five years, the number of entrepreneurs registering on our platform has gone up by almost 90 per cent. There are around 1.3 lakh registered entrepreneurs at present."

He explains that the principal reason behind the phenomenon is the recent boom in startups and the funding ecosystem, adding that most families see financial stability in India as a prerequisite before marriage.

The relatively easy access to capital has ensured that startup founders don't have to wait too long to secure finances, he says.

The 31-year-old co-founder of 5ire, a blockchain platform, Pratik Gauri recalls days when those in the civil service and IITians were elevated to a venerated position, and people chased them under parental or societal pressure.

Speaking about his journey, he says he always took the road less travelled and so, he is the founder of his ninth startup.

In the world of startups there are no guarantees or a list of holidays, and dinner dates could be suddenly cancelled, but they are equally thrilling and adventurous.

"The acceptance from a life partner to marry someone working odd hours and the factor of stability has come with time. Earlier, there was not much awareness about the idea of starting something from an idea and working towards it. With change, for example, couples are now working together and striving to build a brand," he says.

Champion reigns again

Boxing queen Nikhat Zareen, who has done the country proud with a gold at the Commonwealth Games, talks to CE about her win

SHREYA VERONICA

THE Indian contingent restored our faith with back-to-back medals at the recently-concluded Commonwealth Games. One such star who stole the show with her performance was boxing queen Nikhat Zareen who clinched gold for the country. Striking gold again, after her World Championship win, was no cakewalk but constant practice got her the dream win.

Speaking about her victory, the champion says, "This is my third gold this year and it feels good to win back-to-back gold medals, it reinstates confidence in myself."

Talking about the challenges, she explains, "It was challenging because I won a gold medal at the World Championships which was in the 52kg category, but in Commonwealth Games, I participated in the 50kg one for which, I had to train separately to lose two kg of weight. It was tough to maintain my fitness — I had to prepare myself to maintain the same kind of strength that I had when I was 52. I went to Ireland for two weeks to train with other boxers which helped me do better."

For Zareen, maintaining a fitness routine wasn't her favourite bit, but she fought hard and sacrificed to get to where she is today. "I had to cut down on sugar, especially rice and sweets. I had to sacrifice everything I loved so much. I saw the pain of giving up on a lifestyle and food I love and am used to so much. But honestly, the gain surpasses the pain," says she.

The foodie that she is, we ask her what the first thing she wanted to gorge on once she clinched the gold and she says, "Biryani. I called my mother and informed her that when I come back, the first thing that I'd like is biryani. She cooked an elaborate meal and I was elated to eat to my heart's content after a long time."

About her competitors she says, "The boxers from England and Ireland were very good at their game — I had to work harder to keep at it. I'm blessed to have a consistent gold run, winning all the bowls by unanimous decision. I dominated all the three rounds and that was my strategy."

Zareen dedicates the win to her mother and says with a smile, "I promised her that I would gift her a gold medal for her birthday and here it is!"

If there's one thing that the national inspiration would say to people who look up to her, she says, "When you have a dream, just keep working hard, believe in yourself, never give up and just keep going."

Zareen is currently preparing for the upcoming Asian championships that will commence in October and seeks the love, support and prayers of her countrymen.

FIT BIT

VITARKA MUDRA

(Gesture of debate or discussion mudra)

This mudra is most often associated with the Buddha, representing the transmission of his wisdom and used when explaining his teachings. It is a common gesture used in Buddha statuary, particularly those of ancient Thailand. Historically, the mudra is made only with the right hand, but today it is often practised with both hands.

STEPS

- Sit in any comfortable meditation posture like, Padmasana, Siddhasana, Swastikasana, Vajrasana, etc. and place the hands with palm pointing upwards on the thighs or the knees.
- Close your eyes and take some deep breaths with the awareness of the breathing process.
- Bring your right hand forward closer to the chest with the palm facing forward, in Abhaya Mudra.
- Curl the index finger inwards to touch the tip of the thumb forming a complete circle. Middle, ring, and little fingers are raised towards the sky. The left palm rests on the lap facing upward.
- In contemporary practices, this mudra is performed by both hands. The fingers of both the hands are arranged in front of your chest.
- The only difference is the left palm is facing towards the body while the right palm is away from it. In this version, the fingers share similarities with the Dharmachakra Mudra.
- It is generally practiced by a mentor or guru who has attained spirituality and enlightenment. As they transmit their wisdom and knowledge among their disciples to inculcate the same principles.

BENEFITS

- It helps to encourage wisdom.
- Considered to be a spiritual mudra.
- Symbolises the transmission of the knowledge from the guru to the student.
- It is mostly done by those who have gained knowledge and are on the path to enlightenment.
- The gaining of knowledge here is more towards spirituality.
- Circle formed with the index finger and the thumb signifies perfection – like there is no beginning or end. There is a constant flow of energy through the body and from the guru to the student.
- Encourages one to think clearly and have a fair sense of clarity of one's existence, while learning to connect to the world outside (elements) to absorb the energy to the fullest.
- This mudra is all about wisdom, energy, knowledge, and enlightenment.

LIMITATIONS

There is no specific limitation for not practising this Mudra.

By N Elumalai, PhD scholar (Yoga Science) at Meenakshi Academy of Higher Education & Research, Chennai

PINTU TEWARY

As the pandemic continues to play its part in influencing an individual's needs and choices, more and more drinkers are looking for a poised balance in their consumption. Consumers prefer drinks that can be replicated at home with basic, easily-available ingredients that don't pinch the pocket.

With new pubs and microbreweries mushrooming in damp and hot spaces, stiff competition has called in for new aces. How does the restaurant balance the consumer's mindset to make it pocket friendly and also cut down on costs, along with gaining more footfall to generate volume business? The trick lies in small changes. Bars ensure cutting their costs in making the final product by developing homegrown ingredients, and making homemade liqueurs and bitters to add finesse to their beverages.

Every bar chef curates and specialises in developing their bitters, liqueurs, shrubs, etc. Why a bar chef? A bar chef is to the bar what a sous chef is to the kitchen. They work closely on curating cocktail programs and alternatives to foreign ingredients by working on ingredients available closer to home while also helping in slicing profit to the business by reducing cost without compromising on quality.

For a good Negroni, you could replace Campari by making your own homemade orange aperitif. It may sound like a minimalistic idea, but the small change makes it more innovative. Are you a coffeeholic? Want coffee flavour in your alcohol but find Kahlua expensive? How about we teach you a quick alternative? Replace your Kahlua with homemade coffee liqueur. A rich, simple, and creamy drink can easily be made without losing its charm.

The recent trend in the bar space is homemade spice bitter, paan bitter and tea bitters among others. I generally like barley tea bitter with a hint of spiciness.

Here is a trick from the bar book to make liqueurs and bitters. Use neutral alcohol high proof and add sugar & other ingredients. This will make it taste better than any commercial product in the market that uses a heavy stabiliser to regulate the taste. We make homemade Campari by using orange or lemon peel, orris root, wormwood, oleo saccharum, and Indian spices & homemade red colour by adding neutral spirit and after four weeks, you have exquisite homemade Campari.

The most widely used method of making homemade coffee liqueur is using roughly grounded coffee beans, orange peel, cinnamon, simple syrup & gold rum, or vodka. In about two weeks, you get natural homemade coffee liqueur in your bar.

So the next time you have a guest at home, twist up some elegant bitters and homemade liqueurs and let your guest be awed.

JACK MANJUNATH BAGS DISTRIBUTION RIGHTS OF LUCKY MAN

The romantic-fantasy drama directed by Nagendra Prasad, starring Krishna and Puneeth Rajkumar in a pivotal role, will release on September 9

CE FEATURES

Lucky Man, directed by Nagendra Prasad, is set to have a theatrical release on September 9. The latest news is that noted distributor, Manjunath Gowda (Jack Manju), who recently produced Vikrant Rona has bagged the Karnataka distribution rights of Lucky Man. Inspired by the Tamil movie Oh My Kadavule, Lucky Man has Love Mocktail hero Krishna playing the lead. The film also stars Power Star Puneeth Rajkumar in a pivotal cameo in the role of God. Prabhudeva is also part of the cast. Prabhudeva and Puneeth will be sharing screen space for the first time for a dance number, which is also said to be one of the highlights of Lucky Man.

Manjunath

Also starring Sangeetha Sringeri and Roshni Prakash, the film is produced by PR Meenakshi Sundaram and R Sundara Kamaraj under the Parsa Pictures banner.

While Lucky Man's music is composed by V2 Vijay and Vicky, the cinematography and editing are handled by Jeeva Shankar and JV Manikanda Balaji, respectively.

Chaitra Achar

Chaitra Achar joins the cast of Sapta Sagaradaache Yello

CE FEATURES

THE filming of Hemanth M Rao's Sapta Sagaradaache Yello, starring Rakshit Shetty, is set to resume from September first week.

Gilky and Taledanda actor Chaitra J Achar is the latest to join the film, which has Rukmini Vasanth as the female lead. According to Hemanth, the film, which has Rakshit in two different looks, will have Chaitra as Surabhi, who will play a pivotal role in the second part of the story. "She is also a good singer, and we will make use of her singing talent in our film," says the director.

Meanwhile, the director will be conducting a workshop with Chaitra and Rakshit just like the arrangement he had with Rukmini and Rakshit.

Sapta Sagaradaache Yello marks Rakshit's second collaboration with director Hemanth after Godhi Banna Sadharana Mykattu.

Bankrolled by Paramvah Studios, the romantic drama will have Charan Raj scoring the music. The cinematography of the film will be handled by Adhvaitha Gurumurthy.

Love 360 is all about newness

A SHARADHAA

DIRECTOR Shashank's belief that the beginning of anything is the most important moment in someone's life has made him introduce a bunch of newcomers as leads. With his latest release, Love 360, Shashank introduces doctor-turned-actor Praveen in Kannada cinema and has cast Rachana Inder in her first solo female lead. The strength of Love 360 is the fresh faces who bring a certain liveliness to this love drama.

RATING 3.5/5

LOVE 360

Cast: Praveen, Rachana Inder, Kavya Shastri, Gopal Krishna Deshpande, Danny Kuttappa, Mahantesh Hiremath

Director: Shashank

Set in coastal Karnataka, Ram (Praveen), a boat mechanic, is in love with Jaanu (Rachana Inder), who has selective memory loss. The two orphans travel together and eventually, Ram becomes both her lover and her guardian. He is also known as Mr. Perfect 360 in the area. Their romantic life suddenly hits a roadblock when a crime occurs, and Jaanu becomes the suspect. How he manages to save her, and what happens next culminates in a rather unpredictable ending.

Shashank's vision with Love 360 is not candyfloss romance. The director has been effective in displaying the bonding of the lead pair, and their struggles. While showcasing the love saga between the two innocent souls, Shashank also gives an insight into the lives of people dealing with disorders, and has presented the intense and sensitive subject thoughtfully. Working around limited characters makes the film stand out as an unusual love story.

The director's workshops for the two lead actors have not gone waste as both newcomers are effective in their respective characters. Praveen realistically presents his character, and one can see the hard work he has put into his first film, which also proves his calibre for action sequences. Rachana Inder, who had a brief role in Love Mocktail, has matured in terms of her acting skills and plays the part of Jaanu with innocence and grace. Kavya Shastri's presence becomes a testing point of love. Gopal Krishna Deshpande perfectly handles his role as an area inspector while Danny Kuttappa as the antagonist and others have justified their respective characters. Mahantesh Hiremath comes at a crucial point of the story and brings a surprise twist to the whole plot.

The songs and background score by composer Arjun Janya are meaningful, and the soulful romantic track, Jagave Neenu Gelathiya, is one of the highlights of the film. The camera work by Abilash Kalathi lends authenticity to the story, and characters.

An in-form Shashank delivers an unusual love saga with a crime twist in Love 360, which launches the career of Praveen, who shows potential, and can go places if he chooses the right subjects.

ARIANA DEBOSE TO STAR IN HOUSE OF SPOILS

ARIANA DeBose, who bagged Academy Award for Best Supporting Actress for her performance in West Side Story, is set to star in the psychological thriller House of Spoils.

According to Deadline, the actor is set to play an enterprising chef, who opens her first restaurant. Still, she has to contend with the powerful spirit of the estate's previous owner, who threatens to sabotage her at every turn. The film is written and directed by Bridget Savage Cole and Danielle Krudy. Amazon Studios and Secret Engine have acquired the House of Spoils. The film's production will commence in the fall. Ariana took home Oscars, BAFTA, Critics Choice and SAG Awards for her role as Anita in Steven Spielberg's remake of West Side Story.

RAGHUVIR YADAV JOINS COMEDY DRAMA HARI-OM

AFTER Angrezi Mein Kehte Hain and Hum Bhi Akele, Tum Bhi Akele, director Harish Vyas is collaborating again with Anshuman Jha to complete his trilogy of films on relationships with Hari-Om. Raghuvir Yadav has joined the lead cast of the film as the father Hari.

The film goes on floor in September 2022 in Bhopal. It will wrap its shoot in November end as Anshuman will be taking a month off for his wedding in October. Talking about Hari-Om, Harish shares, "I believe that casting is half the battle. In Angrezi Mein... Sanjay Mishra, Anshuman & Pankaj Tripathi were the perfect mix. And with Hari-Om it's a dream come true for me to get Raghuvir Ji & Anshuman together.

ONLY WORKS WHEN IT'S HAVING FUN

DOBAARAA

Cast: Taapsee Pannu, Pavail Gulati, Rahul Bhat, M Nassar, Sukant Goel, Saswata Chatterjee, Himanshi Choudhary

Director: Anurag Kashyap

SHILAJIT MITRA

WHEN not playing bright, beleaguered sportswomen, Taapsee Pannu busies herself with films of a peculiar ilk. Game Over, Looop Lapeta and now Dobaaraa all turn on some notion of second chances. They're all thrillers, small-scale but evidently high-concept. In each, the laws of physics or destiny or mortal reality are suspended so Taapsee can go back in time and fix the unfixable. I wonder if this obsession stems from some kind of personal wish (for instance, if transported to 2017, would Taapsee walk out of Dil Juunglee and Judwaa 2?).

Dobaaraa is directed by Anurag Kashyap, who's returning to feature films after the underwhelming Choked two years ago. Committing the cardinal sin of auteurist cinema (he came down hard on the term in a recent interview), Anurag has gone ahead and done a remake. The original, Mirage (2018), by Spanish director Oriol Paulo, is on Netflix. I watched both versions, and while there are differences (Dobaaraa, for example, is a much funnier film), Anurag has largely stuck to source. It's both heartening and a little disappointing to see one of our most individualistic filmmakers tell a story straight—and not impose a personal signature. In 1996, in Pune, a young boy witnesses a scuffle in a neighbouring house. He tries to help but is crushed under a passing truck. Years later, Antara (Taapsee), a glum, unambitious surgical assistant, wakes up in the same house once belonging to the deceased boy. She's recently moved in there with her daughter, Avanti, and husband, Vikas (Rahul Bhat). Their marriage has palpably soured — "I used to listen to your nonsense earlier," Antara tells Vikas, with all the succinct directness of an Anurag Kashyap heroine. "But now it just irritates me."

RATING 2.5/5

In a room upstairs, they find a rusty old television set hooked to a camcorder. That night, amid news of a 'geomagnetic storm', Antara has a close encounter of a weird kind: the boy from 1996 turns up on the TV screen and is able to see and hear her in return. Antara cautions him to stay put, without realizing how her decision in that split-second will radically alter her reality in the here and now.

Anyone unaccustomed to time-travel tropes in Hindi movies—that is, anyone unscarred by Baar Baar Dekho and Action Replayy—will enjoy the middle section of Dobaaraa. When Antara turns up at work the next day, everyone refers to her as 'doctor'. Her daughter's gone missing — "She doesn't exist," a cop, played by Pavail Gulati, tells her. This is a late change-of-gears for Anurag, a director most associated with gritty dramas and gangster flicks. Here, by way of exposition, he and screenwriter Nihit Bhave pay tribute to several sci-fi classics: Terminator, Back to the Future (Great Scott!), Dr. Strange. These references may help in putting a lay audience at ease, but they also reveal an inferiority complex Bollywood generally feels when it comes to tackling sci-fi themes. Furthermore, invoking Christopher Nolan in a scene explaining time portals is basically Anurag going: "This is not me. Please bear with me." Taapsee delivered one of her better performances in the director's Manmarziyaan (2018); the results are considerably dull this time around. All that frantic running-around and temporal investigating leaves little room for character development. Dobaaraa would be too heavy and unrelieved if not for its supporting cast: Saswata Chatterjee, memorable as a murder suspect, and Rahul Bhatt as the hilariously harried Vikas. There is a chunk of English in the dialogue—an awkwardness for Anurag—which is why I laughed when someone compares Vikas's Risotto cooking to spruced-up 'khichdi'.

In the original film, the fall of the Berlin Wall—a different kind of portal—is nicely employed as a historical reference point. Dobaaraa, by contrast, could be taking place anywhere, anytime. The absence of a single Marathi-speaking character in a film set in Pune further escalates this feeling. Just once, the film gets vaguely political, when a cop warns that nowadays people get picked up for no reason. But that's just a stray defence shot from a director with a strike rate of 100.
